U.S. TO PUT PATROLMEN ON AIRLINERS

Kennedy Hopes For Solution of Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy declared today the United States will use "every diplomatic means" to try to find a peaceful solution of the Berlin dispute with the Soviet Union.

And at another point in his news conference he said tersely: "We're hopeful" of a peaceful solution to the problem.

Kennedy said the thought a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev would not be useful unless the groundwork were carefully laid beforehand. But he said a summit session of Western government chiefs should be held if necessary in "coordinating our policy."

Kennedy replied with evidently deliberate restraint to questions about speeches made by Khrushchev this week. The Soviet premier has lashed at the United States and its allies because of their announced determination not to yield their war won rights to stay in West Berlin.

Khrushchev accused the Allies of aggressive intent toward Russia and in a rocket-rattling Moscow statement Wednesday night he threatened to develop a nuclear super bomb more powerful than anything in existence.

Kennedy said there was no new policy position in Khrushchev's latest statement — no new proposals although Khrushchev "did speak of negotiations."

On this point Kennedy said "it is the strong conviction of the United States government that every diplomatic means must be employed" to see if a peaceful solution can be achieved.

The Western powers, the President added, must see whether they can get a "more precise definition" of ideas which Khrushchev has expressed about Berlin. Kennedy declined to appraise the results of all'd harmony talks conducted in Paris during the past week by Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Rusk is scheduled to return home tonight after meeting with British, French, Italian, West German and other Western policymakers. Kennedy said he could answer the question more precisely after talking with Rusk.

Questioned about the flight of East German refugees and whether this presented a problem of an explosion in Germany, Kennedy said the flow of people from East to West is an illuminating example of what people think about living under the Communist system in Eastern Europe.

Kennedy said this country has not attempted either to encourage or to discourage the refugee flow.

Ohio Air Guard Unit To Increase Drills

PHILIPS COLLINS FIELD, Mich. (AP) — The Ohio Air National Guard's 121st Tactical Fighter Wing has added two more weekend drill sessions to its quarter training schedule in a move to increase its battle readiness.

The wing, on its two-week summer training tour here, will have weekend drills at its home bases of Columbus, Mansfield and Springfield on Aug. 26-27 and Sept. 9-10 and 16-17. This is two more than normally scheduled.

In another move to improve the effectiveness of the unit, a stepped up recruiting program has been started, and a 25 per cent increase in each unit's flying hours has been authorized.

Lausche To Run Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, said today he will seek re-election next year to the Senate. He was elected in 1956 for a term ending Jan. 3, 1963.

ANOTHER PLANE HIJACKED — A $6 million Pan American DC-8 jet airliner (similar to one above), with 81 persons aboard, was hijacked over Mexico and forced to fly to Havana. Among those aboard were (from left) Colombian Foreign Minister Dr. Julio Turban Ayala, stewardesses Rita Layne, Kay Rigby and First Officer Corwin Dodge.

Red Cross Office To Move Tuesday

The offices of the Pickaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross, now located in the Knights of Pythias building, 114 1/2 N. Court St., will be relocated at 163 Watt St. beginning Wednesday.

Mrs. Roloff Wolford, executive secretary of the local Red Cross Chapter, said today the exodus is scheduled Tuesday.

The new location, on the south-west corner of Watt and Pickaway Sts., will provide five rooms for Red Cross personnel. The entire ground floor of the building will be utilized.

For the past 10 years the Red Cross has maintained office rooms in the K of P building.

GEORGE HAMRICK, chapter chairman, said the board feels that it will be able to serve the community better and offer more Red Cross services at the new location. After the move of the business offices, the local chapter will offer a permanent classroom for home nursing courses. Space also will be available for more classes in first-aid.

Mrs. Wolford said the entire operation of the local Red Cross unit is backed by personal contributions through the Pickaway County Community Fund.

Home nursing courses, an important function of the Red Cross, have been non-existent here for quite some time, Mrs. Wolford noted.

"Several years ago, when home nursing courses were offered, they were held in a church, school, the court room or any place that was available for the six to eight-week courses," the executive secretary explained.

Signs will be posted at the new location as well as the old site to inform people of the new address.

Soldier-Diplomat

Dies at Age of 65

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Bedell Smith, soldier, diplomat, jet-jawed genius of military planning, died Wednesday night of a heart attack. He was 65.

Smith served the government in various posts for 43 years. It honored him as few men in history have been honored — with four distinguished Service medals.

As a soldier, Smith rose from a private in the Indiana National Guard to coordinator of the entire planning of the invasion of North Africa and Normandy in World War II. He was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's chief of staff through most of the war, the team becoming known as "Ike and Beetle."

Smith served the government in various posts for 43 years. It honored him as few men in history have been honored — with four distinguished Service medals.

Latin Hemisphere Conference Spotlight Taken by Cuban Red

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—A hemisphere conference conceived to turn back the Communist drive in Latin America surrendered the spotlight Wednesday night to a leading spokesman for communism in the Western hemisphere — and he made the most of it.

While supporters of President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress were attending a reception in a nearby hotel, Cuban economic boss Ernesto Guevara held court for the Latin-American press.

The representative of the little Caribbean island of six million people held the spotlight alone during this period of the Inter-American Economic Conference — whose chief aim is to offset Cuba's revolutionary influence on Latin America's 200 million people.

Guevara had nothing new to say. Most of it was a repetition of Cuban and Communist propaganda. He insisted that the United States is blind to the realities of Latin America, and that because of this the socialist — meaning Communist — revolution on the continent is just around the corner. He said revolution would come in Latin America as a protest against the past and present but that it would become 'socialist' immediately as new governments are installed.

This is standard Marxist-Leninist "national liberation" propaganda, and the United States is doing little on the popular level to combat it.

There has been a considerable amount of enthusiasm generated here for the U.S. program, which envisions the investment of more than $20 billion by the United States and other foreign sources in Latin America in the next 10 years if these countries take steps necessary to develop their potential and join the war against poverty, misery and illiteracy.

But the Alliance for Progress has yet to step down to the lower levels of the Latin-American population. Guevara and the Communists have not lost sight of those levels and their potential for revolution.

In essence, that seems to be the meaning and reason for the Cuban's appearance at a conference where otherwise he obviously does not belong. He is a revolutionary figure in the midst of representatives of a class searching for new ways to save itself from destruction in the fire of revolution.

Space Effort Now 'Maximum'

JFK Says No Enemy To Dominate Heavens

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today the United States is putting maximum effort into space developments in an effort to catch up with the Soviet Union which is "many months ahead of us."

Kennedy said in response to a reporter's question at his news conference that he is satisfied the Russians have put two men into orbit. The reporter had said there is skepticism on the part of some scientists.

The President indicated he does not share this skepticism.

Another reporter asked if Kennedy has given thought to establishing a project similar to the Manhattan Project which developed the atomic bomb, in an effort to speed up space accomplishments.

Kennedy replied that a maximum effort already is going into space developments. He said he has asked Congress for all the money that could be spent without diminishing returns both financially and in terms of the use of personnel.

At this time, Kennedy continued, all that can be usefully employed is being put into this effort.

Kennedy said the United States cannot permit any nation hostile to this country to dominate space.

He said, however, he hopes some progress can be made within the United Nations toward guaranteeing the peaceful use of space. He said this will be a major issue in the U.N. session this fall.

A reporter noted that some members of Congress contend the Soviet Union is producing many more young scientists than the United States. He asked what plans there are for increasing the number of young American experts.

Kennedy replied that he hopes Congress will pass his general aid to education bill and the National Defense Education Act. He said both measures provide scholarships for young men and women who are talented in the scientific field.

Instant Coffee Plant Explosion Fatal to 2

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP)—A wing of an instant coffee plant blew up Wednesday killing two men and injuring six.

Rescue crews uncovered the bodies of the two victims early today.

Killed were Shelby Dotson, 22, and Victor Frisse, 57.

Only one of the injured men was in a serious condition. The blast damaged a 2½-story brick building of the Nestle Co., Inc. Cause of the explosion hasn't been determined.

Kennedy Tells Of Precautions Being Ordered

Chief Urges Caution On Premature Howls About Plane Hijackings

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy announced today that border patrolmen will be assigned to a number of airplanes to guard against new hijacking incidents. As a further precaution, Kennedy said, doors to the pilot's cabin will be locked and the key held inside.

Kennedy also told a news conference that he hopes other government will exercise all the means at their power to control what he called these "exercises in futility."

The President cautioned against premature howls of protest before it can be ascertained exactly who has hijacked an airplane and for what purpose.

His cautionary words were directed at members of Congress who have attacked Fidel Castro of Cuba as the instigator of two recent plane piracies when, as it developed, the aircraft were seized by men with no known connection with Cuba.

Asked about the rash of plane hijackings, Kennedy said he hopes successful procedures can be worked out to prevent new incidents.

He went on to note that Wednesday's Pan American jet hijacking was the work of a Frenchman who said he had been treated earlier this year for mental aberrations.

The Continental Airlines jet piracy last week over Texas was perpetrated by a father and son, one of whom also has been treated for mental weakness, he said.

These episodes suggest that a "lunatic fringe" has taken to hijacking as a means of gaining publicity, Kennedy said.

An Eastern Air Lines Electra, commandeered by an unidentified hijacker last month has been held in Havana by the Castro government.

Even with this in mind, Kennedy said he felt it important for Americans "to act with the prudence worthy of a great power."

The inter-American conference now in progress in Uruguay is of vital significance to development of needy countries of the Western Hemisphere, Kennedy said, and this country should avoid rocking the boat by getting "so over excited" about aircraft hijackings on the basis of information.

Two Members Of City Board Decide To Quit

Decisions not to seek re-election have been made by two veteran City Board of Education members. Carl Leist, now president of the board, and Mrs. Walter Heine announced they will not be candidates in the Nov. 7 election as the deadline for filing nominating petitions passed yesterday.

Leist, prominent Circleville attorney who lives at 205 Northridge Rd., said in a telephone interview today "I have been on the board almost 20 years and served as president about 10. I simply feel it's time to step down and let somebody else serve."

The official, for many years an influential leader in city education policy, added "I plan to maintain a definite interest in our schools, but to perpetuate my length of service seems unwise."

Mrs. Heine, who has been on the panel two four-year terms noted "The opportunity to serve should be passed around." She commented, "I feel it has been a rewarding community service, but there are impelling personal reasons which influenced my decision."

AT THE same time, Board of Elections workers announced five persons had returned petitions seeking first terms on the city school board.

They are Milford C. Tassler, Route 3, a resident of the city district; Rosemary J. Mader, Pinckney St.; George C. Porter, S. Court St.; William L. Cook, 131 Park Place, County Fair manager; and G. Richard Bowens, 921 Circle Drive.

U.S. Set To Press Charges In Latest Aerial Hijacking

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The federal government prepared today to press charges against Albert Charles Cadon, 27, the Frenchman who hijacked a jetliner at gunpoint and forced it to fly to Havana.

Cadon was still in Havana, held by the Cuban authorities who removed him from the Pan American World Airways DC-8. Cuba disclaimed any hand in the hijacking and permitted the plane to fly to Miami.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Cadon would be charged here with crime on the high seas, assault with a dangerous weapon, and assault with intent to commit a felony.

The charges would presumably be pressed in the event Cuba permits his return to the United States.

None of the 82 passengers and crew aboard the airliner was harmed, either by Cadon or the Cubans, in the hijacking Wednesday—latest in a series.

Most of the passengers spent the night in Miami and were to continue their interrupted journeys today. Some left Wednesday night.

Cadon was quoted by crew members as saying he was hijacking the plane to protest United States policy in Algeria, and that led to reports that he was a French Algerian.

The FBI said later, however, that Cadon was a French native who came to this country in 1957 and was committed briefly to New York's Bellevue Hospital last fall for mental observation. He was described by the FBI as an unbalanced itinerant artist and restaurant worker.

His wife, Charlotte, told the FBI that Cadon was an admirer of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro. She said he left their New York City home last Friday after a quarrel and told her he was going to take a bus to Mexico.

It was shortly after the airliner had left Mexico City that Cadon hijacked it.

Among the 73 passengers aboard the airliner was Colombian Foreign Minister Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala—an outspoken foe of the Castro regime. Cuban officials said, however, that the quick release of the plane, passengers and crew was in deference to him.

The latest victim of piracy in the skies was Pan American flight 501 between Houston, Tex., and Panama City, Panama, via Mexico City, Guatemala City, San Jose, Costa Rica.

It left Houston at 10 a.m., and flew to Mexico City, taking off from there at 1 p.m.

No sooner did the plane get aloft, however, than Cadon—his pistol cocked and ready—rushed down the aisle from the back of the cabin, kicked open the door to the pilot's compartment and went inside, closing the door behind him.

The crew managed to get off a terse radio message telling of the hijacking. It was picked up in Brownsville, Tex., and American fighter planes made a vain attempt to intercept the airliner before it reached Havana.

Inside the pilot's compartment Cadon announced: "I am an extremist and a revolutionist. There are many of us."

Copilot Sam Enfield said Cadon told of having two children in Paris and a wife in New York. He said he'd arrived in Mexico City earlier in the day by bus.

Enfield said the hijacker demanded by radio that Havana send out an air escort, but the control tower turned him down. The copilot pointed Havana out to Cadon, whereupon the hijacker said: "I have never been there before. I don't know."

Convinced finally that the plane was in Havana, Cadon emptied his gun and passed out the bullets as souvenirs to the crew.

Turbay said, "The Cuban militia then boarded the plane and disarmed the hijacker. I saw him clearly then. He was a young man, about 24, very nervous, and carried a Spanish pistol."

Cadon was held in Havana. The aircraft and the other passengers were cleared for a return to Miami about three hours later but were delayed for several additional hours. Ballard attributed this to Castro's entertaining the Colombian foreign minister.

54 Candidates Enter Petitions

A total of 54 candidates returned nominating petitions for various offices within Pickaway County to the Board of Elections during the last two days of the filing period which ended yesterday.

Heaviest concentration of ballot hopefuls was in the area of township trustees and district boards of education positions.

No clear-cut factions were apparent in most of the local contests. Most current officials, particularly in the county's villages, are seeking reelection, with the entire Tilton council returning a group petition.

George Karshner and Allen T. Hanes Jr. will oppose each other for the Tilton mayor's post. Most of Ashville's councilmen declared their intention to run again along with members of that village's Board of Public Affairs.

A FULL listing of candidates will be released by the Board of Elections after verification is made of signatures appearing on the nominating forms.

The total number of aspirants appears to be running a bit heavier than normal, according to veteran county elections observers.

Hoover, 87, Is Optimistic On Everything

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Hoover celebrates his 87th birthday today, firm in the conviction that Americans "are ready for any emergency on earth."

Hoover, who has lived longer than any other American president except John Adams (who died at the age of 90), scoffs at the idea that Americans are becoming soft.

The people, he said, are "as deeply patriotic as they've ever been."

At a news conference in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Wednesday Hoover discussed a wide variety of topics ranging from the Berlin crisis to baseball. His face ruddy and unlined, he appeared at ease and took an optimistic view of everything he discussed.

Besides writing two books last year, the former Republican president attended 26 public occasions, made 14 speeches—none ghost written, replied to 34,805 letters, received 11 awards and traveled to Florida and California.

This was in addition to helping administer the Boys Clubs of America and serving on 12 boards of trustees or directors of educational and scientific institutions.

How does he keep up the pace? "The only way to lead a satisfactory life when you get old is not to retire but to work."

Draft Quota Skyrockets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The draft quota for September was set today at 25,000 men, biggest since the end of the Korean War.

The Defense Department announcement for the September call reflected the first full-scale manpower impact of the military buildup, although a smaller increase had been made in the August call through revision of the initially announced quota.

It will bring the total of men who have been drafted since September 1950, immediately after the outbreak of the Korean War to 2,640,950.

The Pentagon said the September quota is calculated against the expected input of manpower from volunteer and re-enlistment sources.

'Just Verdict' In Eichmann Trial Is Asked

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israeli Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner ended the summation of his case against Adolf Eichmann today with a plea for a "just and truthful" verdict that the former Gestapo officer "acted willingly, lustfully and zestfully to the very end."

Adolf Eichmann acted for the perpetration of these crimes with which he is charged in the most extreme and merciless way conceivable," Hausner told the three judges who will decide whether Eichmann bears major responsibility for the Nazi slaughter of six million Jews.

Hausner did not demand the death penalty—the maximum provided in Israeli law under which the Anglo-Saxon procedure operates in Israel's courts does not permit such a demand until the defendant is convicted.

Monday, Eichmann's West German defense counsel, Robert Servatius, will sum up his defense. He is expected to take only one day.

The court will then recess for the balance of the summer. It is expected to return its verdict in October.

Kennedy declined to appraise the results of allied harmony talks conducted in Paris during the past week by Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Rusk is scheduled to return home tonight after meeting with British, French, Italian, West German and other Western policymakers. Kennedy said he could answer the question more precisely after talking with Rusk.

Questioned about the flight of East German refugees and whether this presented a problem of an explosion in Germany, Kennedy said the flow of people from East to West is an illuminating example of what people think about living under the Communist system in Eastern Europe.

Kennedy said this country has not attempted either to encourage or to discourage the refugee flow.

Red Cross Office To Move Tuesday

The offices of the Pickaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross, now located in the Knights of Pythias building, 114 1/2 N. Court St., will be relocated at 163 Watt St. beginning Wednesday.

Mrs. Roloff Wolford, executive secretary of the local Red Cross Chapter, said today the exodus is scheduled Tuesday.

U.S. Set To Press Charges In Latest Aerial Hijacking

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The federal government prepared today to press charges against Albert Charles Cadon, 27, the Frenchman who hijacked a jetliner at gunpoint and forced it to fly to Havana.

Cadon was still in Havana, held by the Cuban authorities who removed him from the Pan American World Airways DC-8. Cuba disclaimed any hand in the hijacking and permitted the plane to fly to Miami.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Cadon would be charged here with crime on the high seas, assault with a dangerous weapon, and assault with intent to commit a felony.

The charges would presumably be pressed in the event Cuba permits his return to the United States.

None of the 82 passengers and crew aboard the airliner was harmed, either by Cadon or the Cubans, in the hijacking Wednesday—latest in a series.

Most of the passengers spent the night in Miami and were to continue their interrupted journeys today. Some left Wednesday night.

Cadon was quoted by crew members as saying he was hijacking the plane to protest United States policy in Algeria, and that led to reports that he was a French Algerian.

The FBI said later, however, that Cadon was a French native who came to this country in 1957 and was committed briefly to New York's Bellevue Hospital last fall for mental observation. He was described by the FBI as an unbalanced itinerant artist and restaurateur worker.

His wife, Charlotte, told the FBI that Cadon was an admirer of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro. She said he left their New York City home last Friday after a quarrel and told her he was going to take a bus to Mexico.

It was shortly after the airliner had left Mexico City that Cadon hijacked it.

Among the 73 passengers aboard the airliner was Colombian Foreign Minister Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala—an outspoken foe of the Castro regime. Cuban officials said, however, that the quick release of the plane, passengers and crew was in deference to him.

The latest victim of piracy in the skies was Pan American flight 501 between Houston, Tex., and Panama City, Panama, via Mexico City, Guatemala City, San Jose, Costa Rica.

It left Houston at 10 a.m., and flew to Mexico City, taking off from there at 1 p.m.

No sooner did the plane get aloft, however, than Cadon—his pistol cocked and ready—rushed down the aisle from the back of the cabin, kicked open the door to the pilot's compartment and went inside, closing the door behind him.

The crew managed to get off a terse radio message telling of the hijacking. It was picked up in Brownsville, Tex., and American fighter planes made a vain attempt to intercept the airliner before it reached Havana.

Inside the pilot's compartment Cadon announced: "I am an extremist and a revolutionist. There are many of us."

Copilot Sam Enfield said Cadon told of having two children in Paris and a wife in New York. He said he'd arrived in Mexico City earlier in the day by bus.

Enfield said the hijacker demanded by radio that Havana send out an air escort, but the control tower turned him down. The copilot pointed Havana out to Cadon, whereupon the hijacker said: "I have never been there before. I don't know."

Convinced finally that the plane was in Havana, Cadon emptied his gun and passed out the bullets as souvenirs to the crew.

Turbay said, "The Cuban militia then boarded the plane and disarmed the hijacker. I saw him clearly then. He was a young man, about 24, very nervous, and carried a Spanish pistol."

Cadon was held in Havana. The aircraft and the other passengers were cleared for a return to Miami about three hours later but were delayed for several additional hours. Ballard attributed this to Castro's entertaining the Colombian foreign minister.

54 Candidates Enter Petitions

A total of 54 candidates returned nominating petitions for various offices within Pickaway County to the Board of Elections during the last two days of the filing period which ended yesterday.

Heaviest concentration of ballot hopefuls was in the area of township trustees and district boards of education positions.

No clear-cut factions were apparent in most of the local contests. Most current officials, particularly in the county's villages, are seeking reelection, with the entire Tilton council returning a group petition.

George Karshner and Allen T. Hanes Jr. will oppose each other for the Tilton mayor's post. Most of Ashville's councilmen declared their intention to run again along with members of that village's Board of Public Affairs.

A FULL listing of candidates will be released by the Board of Elections after verification is made of signatures appearing on the nominating forms.

The total number of aspirants appears to be running a bit heavier than normal, according to veteran county elections observers.

STAVANGER, Norway (AP) — Thirty-four British schoolboys en route to a holiday in Norway died Wednesday night in a chartered British airliner that crashed and burned on a Norwegian mountainside during a fierce coastal storm.

Draft Quota Skyrockets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The draft quota for September was set today at 25,000 men, biggest since the end of the Korean War.

The Defense Department announcement for the September call reflected the first full-scale manpower impact of the military buildup, although a smaller increase had been made in the August call through revision of the initially announced quota.

It will bring the total of men who have been drafted since September 1950, immediately after the outbreak of the Korean War to 2,640,950.

The Pentagon said the September quota is calculated against the expected input of manpower from volunteer and re-enlistment sources.

'Just Verdict' In Eichmann Trial Is Asked

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israeli Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner ended the summation of his case against Adolf Eichmann today with a plea for a "just and truthful" verdict that the former Gestapo officer "acted willingly, lustfully and zestfully to the very end."

"Adolf Eichmann acted for the perpetration of these crimes with which he is charged in the most extreme and merciless way conceivable," Hausner told the three judges who will decide whether Eichmann bears major responsibility for the Nazi slaughter of six million Jews.

Hausner did not demand the death penalty—the maximum provided in Israeli law under which the Anglo-Saxon procedure operative in Israel's courts does not permit such a demand until the defendant is convicted.

Monday, Eichmann's West German defense counsel, Robert Servatius, will sum up his defense. He is expected to take only one day.

The court will then recess for the balance of the summer. It is expected to return its verdict in October.

Stock Mart Price Behavior Still Irregular

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's sideways progress through this week continued early this afternoon as prices alternately weakened, firmed, sagged and climbed.

The result by noon was a decline of 0.40 to 253.60 in The Associated Press 60-stock average. Industrials were down 0.20, rails down 0.30 and utilities down 0.40.

Key issues rose or fell fractions to about a point for the most part. Brunswick, however, was up nearly 2 points. Revlon also added another 2 points or so to recent gains.

Chrysler and Du Pont both rose around a point, but most blue chip issues moved only fractionally.

Steels maintained an upside edge, as did most motors, rubbers, mail order and retail firms, chemicals and drugs.

Litton spurred more than 2 in an otherwise quiet electronic section. United Aircraft cut an early loss among aircraft-missile stocks, while Boeing and Douglas were narrowly higher.

Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 1.26 at 718.83.

Montgomery Ward recovered from a poor start and rose nearly a point.

Moving higher were U.S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Ford, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Radio Corp., American Telephone, American Smelting, Eastman Kodak, GE and United Air Lines.

Small losses hit Republic Steel, General Motors, Woolworth, General Dynamics, Kennecott, Santa Fe and Lorillard.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange improved after a mixed start.

Corporate bonds were mixed and U.S. governments quiet.

Howard A. Heath, 26, Washington D. C.; $15 and costs for driving on a freshly painted traffic line.

Four Injuries Get Hospital Treatment

Four injuries suffered in non-vehicle accidents were treated yesterday at Berger Hospital. James Kern, Stoutsville, suffered contusions when he struck his right leg on a combine.

Douglas Marshall, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marshall, Stoutsville, fell and lacerated his head on the rim of a tin tub.

William Ramey, 55, Route 1, was stung by a wasp.

Police Check Two Thefts, Two Entries

Two thefts and two burglaries were under investigation today by the Circleville Police Department.

Clarence Wolf, 212 E. Mound St., gave the person or persons earlier responsible for stealing a tube from a wheel on his harvest sulk another chance. The chance was taken. Another wheel and tire were taken within the last couple of days, Wolf said.

Wolf told officers an inner tube was taken last week from a barn at 1021 S. Court St., where the sully is housed. The latest wheel and tire theft was reported yesterday.

Gaylord Dean, 936 S. Pickaway St., reported someone siphoned about a quarter of a tank of gasoline from his auto parked in the rear of his garage. He said the theft occurred after midnight Wednesday.

A STELLA AVE. residence was the scene of the second burglary. Mary Tomlinson, 444 Stella Ave., told Sgt. Turney Ross and Patrolman William Goff her house was entered and ransacked yesterday.

She said entry was gained through the front door, which was locked but evidently didn't latch when she left the residence. Approximately $4 in pennies were taken from two different banks and a cigar box in different rooms of the house.

Two sets of ladders were taken Monday or Tuesday from a S. Washington St. job site, according to Gene Barthelmas, roofing contractor at 241 E. Main St.

Barthelmas said the ladders, valued at about $90, are 34 and 24 feet long. Both are extension units.

Three Youths Are Back in County Home

Three juveniles who walked away from the Pickaway County Children's Home last night were returned to the home today after they were picked up by city police.

The three, ages 8 to 10, at first said they walked away from the home because of whippings they had received from Superintendent Winfield Koch. They later changed their story, telling Juvenile Probation Officer Ralph Starkey and police officers that they "made up" the original report.

According to Starkey, Koch and patrolmen, the youths said they just wanted to get away from the home. They said the beating story seemed the easiest way to do it.

Starkey today said there were no marks on the youths indicating they had been beaten. Koch said the boys had not been whipped.

The youngsters were picked up by city police at about 1:30 a. m. today. They reportedly walked away from the home at about 10:30 p. m. yesterday.

Three other youths walked away from the home several weeks ago. They said they left because of severe beatings.

The local Probate Court has been investigating the complaints since the first incident. Koch maintains the youths who left the first time were not severely whipped or punished. He emphasized that only required disciplinary measures have been used at the home.

Kennedy Tells

"which is faulty or incomplete." During the news conference, lasting little more than a half hour, Kennedy also spoke on these other subjects:

NUCLEAR—The panel which he assigned the task of determining whether tests can be conducted without revealing the fact through earth shocks has turned in a highly classified report. But Kennedy said he could disclose that its findings have made him feel "more urgently than ever" that an inspection system as proposed by the United States and Great Britain is essential to any nuclear test ban agreement.

GERMANY — Kennedy said the United States has not attempted to encourage or discourage the flight of thousands upon thousands of East Germans through the West Berlin escape hatch to the free world.

He said the movement from East to West is of concern to the Communists because it presents "rather illuminating evidence of the comparative values of the free life and open society and those in a closed society, under the Communist system."

FORUMS — Kennedy was asked about the controversy which grew from a memo that Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., sent to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara protesting the role of military officers in public forums which the senator said have distorted their declared objective of educating Americans on the Communist menace.

The President said the Constitution wisely keeps the military out of politics. A problem will always exist, he went on, in enabling military men to express their views on great problems while keeping them out of political life and maintaining civilian control over the armed forces. But he said the National Security Council should clarify the directive on which the military services have based their educational programs.

Johnson, Kennedy

OK Emergency Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy disclosed today he had made an agreement with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson for operation of the presidency if he should become incapacitated.

Kennedy told his news conference that he had made the same kind of agreement with Johnson that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower set up with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Eisenhower and Nixon agreed that if the Eisenhower became unable to continue his duties, Nixon should take over as acting president. The President then would decide when he was able to resume the duties of office.

BIS Probers Place Blame On Superintendent, Aides

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — A report on an investigation of employment complaints against the superintendent of the Boys Industrial School places the blame with employees as well as with Supt. R. Lyndon Fultz.

Dr. Robert Haines, director of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, came here today to review the report for employees, and said it "lends credence to some of the accusations made against the superintendent."

Employees had charged the superintendent with "vicious personal practices" and that he was responsible for low employee morale.

But Dr. Haines declared that Fultz "is still superintendent," and added that "no employee, including the superintendent, who performs his work faithfully and well need have any fear of losing his job as a result of the investigation."

"The method in which some personnel matters have been handled has shown a lack of understanding in good human relations by the superintendent as well as by other supervisory employees, and needs to be corrected."

The director said certain changes and improvements in the organizational structure of the institution will be made. He was not specific as to what they would be. But he said he will direct John Ferguson, chief of the juvenile division, "to submit to me recommendations for a more effective organization structure of BIS. This will define areas of responsibility and authority and also will indicate changes in the composition of certain committees and their functions."

"I shall appoint various members of my central office staff as special representatives to work with the superintendent and other employees to study, develop and recommend changes necessary in various programs."

In a letter released to all employees of the institution, Haines

Stock Mart Price Behavior Still Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market's sideways progress through this week continued early this afternoon as prices alternately weakened, firmed, sagged and climbed.

The result by noon was a decline of 0.40 to 253.60 in The Associated Press 60-stock average. Industrials were down 0.20, rails down 0.30 and utilities down 0.40.

Key issues rose or fell fractions to about a point for the most part. Brunswick, however, was up nearly 2 points. Revlon also added another 2 points or so to recent gains.

Chrysler and Du Pont both rose around a point, but most blue chip issues moved only fractionally.

Steels maintained an upside edge, as did most motors, rubbers, mail order and retail firms, chemicals and drugs.

Litton spurred more than 2 in an otherwise quiet electronic section. United Aircraft cut an early loss among aircraft-missile stocks, while Boeing and Douglas were narrowly higher.

Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 1.26 at 718.83.

Montgomery Ward recovered from a poor start and rose nearly a point.

Moving higher were U.S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Ford, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Radio Corp., American Telephone, American Smelting, Eastman Kodak, GE and United Air Lines.

Small losses hit Republic Steel, General Motors, Woolworth, General Dynamics, Kennecott, Santa Fe and Lorillard.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange improved after a mixed start.

Corporate bonds were mixed and U.S. governments quiet.

Five traffic violators were fined today in Circleville Municipal Court by Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

Jacqueline D. Seymour, 18, Chillicothe, was fined $50 and costs for no operator's license, plus $15 and costs for failing to have the required number of lights on her vehicle. She was arrested by city police.

Addison O. Young, 32, Route 1, Amanda, also arrested by city police, was fined $50 and costs on a charge of reckless operation.

State Patrol arrests were: Stanley V. Stutzman, 37, Chillicothe, and Jerry D. Knight, 23, Route 3, Waverly; each fined $15 and costs for speeding at 65 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Howard A. Heath, 26, Washington D. C.; $15 and costs for driving on a freshly painted traffic line.

Four Injuries Get Hospital Treatment

Four injuries suffered in non-vehicle accidents were treated yesterday at Berger Hospital.

James Kern, Stoutsville, suffered contusions when he struck his right leg on a combine.

Douglas Marshall, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marshall, Stoutsville, fell and lacerated his head on the rim of a tin tub.

William Ramey, 55, Route 1, was stung by a wasp.

John A. Hoover, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hoover, 228 Town St. punctured his right foot when he stepped on a rusty nail.

Police Check Two Thefts, Two Entries

Two thefts and two burglaries were under investigation today by the Circleville Police Department.

Clarence Wolf, 212 E. Mound St., gave the person or persons earlier responsible for stealing a tube from a wheel on his harness sulky another chance. The chance was taken. Another wheel and tire were taken within the last couple of days, Wolf said.

Wolf told officers an inner tube was taken last week from a barn at 1021 S. Court St., where the sulky is housed. The latest wheel and tire theft was reported yesterday.

Gaylord Dean, 936 S. Pickaway St., reported someone siphoned about a quarter of a tank of gasoline from his auto parked in the rear of his garage. He said the gas theft occurred after midnight Wednesday.

A STELLA AVE. residence was the scene of the second burglary. Mary Tomlinson, 444 Stella Ave., told Sgt. Turney Ross and Patrolman William Goff her house was entered and ransacked yesterday.

She said entry was gained through the front door, which was locked but evidently didn't latch when she left the residence.

Approximately $4 in pennies were taken from two different banks and a cigar box in different rooms of the house.

Two sets of ladders were taken Monday or Tuesday from a S. Washington St. job site, according to Gene Barthelmas, roofing contractor at 241 E. Main St.

Barthelmas said the ladders, valued at about $90, are 34 and 24 feet long. Both are extension units.

Three Youths Are Back in County Home

Three juveniles who walked away from the Pickaway County Children's Home last night were returned to the home today after they were picked up by city police.

The three, ages 8 to 10, at first said they walked away from the home because of whippings they had received from Superintendent Winfield Koch. They later changed their story, telling Juvenile Probation Officer Ralph Starkey and police officers that they "made up" the original report.

According to Starkey, Koch and patrolmen, the youths said they just wanted to get away from the home. They said the beating story seemed the easiest way to do it.

Starkey today said there were no marks on the youths indicating they had been beaten. Koch said the boys had not been whipped.

THE youngsters were picked up by city police at about 1:30 a. m. today. They reportedly walked away from the home at about 10:30 p. m. yesterday.

Three other youths walked away from the home several weeks ago. They said they left because of severe beatings.

The local Probate Court has been investigating the complaints since the first incident. Koch maintains the youths who left the first time were not severely whipped or punished. He emphasized that only required disciplinary measures have been used at the home.

Kennedy Tells

"which is faulty or incomplete."

During the news conference, lasting little more than a half hour, Kennedy also spoke on these other subjects:

NUCLEAR—The panel which he assigned the task of determining whether tests can be conducted without revealing the fact through earth shocks has turned in a highly classified report. But Kennedy said he could disclose that its findings have made him feel "more urgently than ever" that an inspection system as proposed by the United States and Great Britain is essential to any nuclear test ban agreement.

GERMANY—Kennedy said the United States has not attempted to encourage or discourage the flight of thousands upon thousands of East Germans through the West Berlin escape hatch to the free world.

He said the movement from East to West is of concern to the Communists because it presents "rather illuminating evidence of the comparative values of the free life and open society and those in a closed society, under the Communist system."

FORUMS—Kennedy was asked about the controversy which grew from a memo that Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., sent to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara protesting the role of military officers in public forums which the senator said have distorted their declared objective of educating Americans on the Communist menace.

The President said the Constitution wisely keeps the military out of politics. A problem will always exist, he went on, in enabling military men to express their views on great problems while keeping them out of political life and maintaining civilian control over the armed forces. But he said the National Security Council should clarify the directive on which the military services have based their educational programs.

Johnson, Kennedy OK Emergency Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy disclosed today he had made an agreement with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson for operation of the presidency if he should become incapacitated.

Kennedy told his news conference that he had made the same kind of agreement with Johnson that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower set up with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Eisenhower and Nixon agreed that if the Eisenhower became unable to continue his duties, Nixon should take over as acting president. The President then would decide when he was able to resume the duties of office.

A total of 197,049 valid signatures would be required before Sept. 7 to put the issue on the November ballot. The new law, abolishing the stamps, goes into effect Jan. 1.

Georgetown, new a section of northwest Washington, was once a thriving port with aspirations of surpassing New York. Even after the U. S. capital was established, full-rigged merchantmen were sailing up the Potomac River to the town. However, the harbor eventually silted up and trade moved elsewhere.

BIS Probers Place Blame On Superintendent, Aides

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—A report on an investigation of employee complaints against the superintendent of the Boys Industrial School places the blame with employees as well as with Supt. R. Lyndon Fultz.

Dr. Robert Haines, director of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, came here today to review the report for employees, and said it "lends credence to some of the accusations made against the superintendent."

Employees had charged the superintendent with "vicious personal practices" and that he was responsible for low employee morale.

But Dr. Haines declared that Fultz "is still superintendent," and added that "no employee, including the superintendent, who performs his work faithfully and well need have any fear of losing his job as a result of the investigation."

"The method in which some personnel matters have been handled has shown a lack of understanding in good human relations by the superintendent as well as by other supervisory employees, and needs to be corrected."

The director said certain changes and improvements in the organizational structure of the institution will be made. He was not specific as to what they would be. But he said he will direct John Ferguson, chief of the juvenile division, "to submit to me recommendations for a more effective organization structure of BIS. This will define areas of responsibility and authority and also will indicate changes in the composition of certain committees and their functions."

"I shall appoint various members of my central office staff as special representatives to work with the superintendent and other employees to study, develop and recommend changes necessary in various programs."

In a letter released to all employees of the institution, Haines said "I do see a need for some changes as they relate to runways, estate details, incident reporting, together with a re-examination of a relaxed treatment program and other activities."

"Accordingly, there will be a concerted effort to extend the full resources of the department toward overcoming not only the shortcomings which were revealed through the investigation, but also any others that may be found in the future."

Haines said the investigation "is closed as far as we are concerned."

East German Reds Demand Tougher Policy

BERLIN (AP)—Communist groups in East Germany today demanded a total ban on East Germans traveling to West Berlin.

The proposal to close the escape hatch to the West came from new factory committees formed to help dam the tide of fleeing refugees.

The Communist regime already has limited permits for official or private travel, reinforced police guards to intercept the refugees, and taken measures to intimidate the estimated 80,000 East Germans who commute to work in West Berlin daily.

But about 2,000 refugees a day are slipping through the Red net to West Berlin.

The official East German news agency ADN announced formation of the factory committees to combat the "trading in humanity," the way the Communists describe the exodus.

Nearly 150,000 Germans have fled to the West so far this year—compared with 200,000 for all 1960—and the tide is showing no sign of ebbing.

Once across the line, the refugees are being flown to West Germany.

Walnut Teacher Gets Master's Degree in Music

Miss Mary Jo Gaskalla, band director at Walnut Twp. High School, recently received a Master of Music Education degree from VanderCook College of Music in Chicago, Ill.

She received her undergraduate degree in Education in 1958 at Ohio State University. The last four summers she has been studying with a faculty of many outstanding music educators.

In addition to band and orchestra experiences, Miss Gaskalla has received both private and class instruction in vocal techniques and choral arranging from Daniel P. Tkach, director and teacher in Chicago schools.

O'Connor To Sell Disputed Stock

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Lawrence J. O'Connor, confirmed as a member of the Federal Power Commission, said Wednesday he has started disposing of stock Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said may represent a conflict of interest.

"Just as I said in the committee hearing, I am disposing of such stock and before Monday I will have disposed of it all," O'Connor said.

"In fact that is the reason I am in Houston."

Proxmire held the Senate floor for over 32 hours in his fight against O'Connor's confirmation. He said it would "really be tragic" to appoint O'Connor to the power commission because of conflict of interest.

Hijacked Plane Is Returned To America

Earlier, the White House had requested "prompt" return of the jet and passengers.

After the plane finally took off and as it neared Miami, Ballard radioed the control tower: "I've never been so glad to see this place. The airliner landed at 11:48 p.m. Shortly thereafter, several passengers bound for points south of Panama took off on another Pan American plane. The others spent the night in a hotel and will continue their interrupted journeys today.

Before Cadon had definitely been identified as the hijacker, a U.S. Embassy source in Mexico City erroneously reported that Hector Vioni, a passenger aboard the plane, had remained behind in Cuba.

Relatives of the Richmond, Ind. lawyer immediately branded this as preposterous.

Later the embassy sources said they were misinformed and added: "Our usually reliable connections got their names mixed up."

The sources emphasized Vioni was not involved in any way in the hijacking.

The crew of the $5-million jet liner was not armed, although three prior hijackings of American commercial planes since May 1 have led the government to authorize arming aircraft crews.

In this case, however, such arming would have required approval from the Mexican government. Furthermore, Pan American — the only American airline operating into Cuba under an agreement with the Castro regime — had anticipated no such hijacking.

In Washington, the fact that no Cuban was involved in the hijacking and Castro's prompt release of the plane seemed to sidetrack demands by some senators for an American ultimatum to Castro over the earlier hijacking of an Eastern Air Lines Electra July 24.

The Electra, held by the Cuban government, rested in front of a Havana airport building some 500 yards from where the Pan American jet landed.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Cadon would be charged in Miami with crime on the high seas, assault with a dangerous weapon and assault with intent to commit a felony.

The FBI described Cadon as an unbalanced itinerant artist and restaurant worker with a record of trouble going back to his childhood in France.

He came to this country in 1957 and was committed briefly last fall to New York's Bellevue Hospital for mental observation, the FBI said after talking to Cadon's wife Charlotte.

Mrs. Cadon told the FBI her husband left their New York City home last Friday after a quarrel and told her he was going to take a bus to Mexico.

She said Cadon had often spoken of his admiration for Castro.

Glen White, a Detroit auto executive, said "my first reaction was this guy was sick—awfully sick."

"This fellow with the wild hair ran down the aisle."

"I saw him stick an awfully big gun up against the steward's heart" soon after the Mexico City takeoff of the Pan American jetliner, White said.

"He jumped through into the cockpit and slammed the door. That was the last we saw of him until Cuban police escorted him from the jet at Havana."

"I and some others tried to figure out how to grab the plane ourselves. But we decided against it."

"Pan American opened the bar, and everybody had a drink and just relaxed."

"Right after we landed, this fellow was taken out of the plane and those soldiers on the ground saluted and cheered him as he walked toward the terminal."

Hector Vioni, 53, Richmond, Ind., attorney, said "A blue streak—the hijacker—shot down the aisle past me, backed the steward against a seat and ... kicked open the cockpit door."

"I don't think you would say there was any panic, although I think most of us were plenty nervous."

Plane Capt. Carl Ballard of Houston, Tex., said "Cadon threatened us several times. We were in great danger of being shot—not intentionally, but by accident. He said he'd kill us, and he said that when the problem came up we were not to land for fuel. He told us we'd crash first."

Colombian Foreign Minister Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala, one of the passengers, gave a terse account of the hijacking exploit.

"Five minutes after leaving Mexico City I saw a passenger rushing down the aisle from the back of the cabin. He had a pistol in his hand. He argued with a crewman. Then he pushed his foot in the door to the pilot's cabin and opened it. He closed it behind him with the two pilots inside."

Hijacked Plane Is Returned To America

Earlier, the White House had requested "prompt" return of the jet and passengers.

After the plane finally took off and as it neared Miami, Ballard radioed the control tower: "I've never been so glad to see this place. The airliner landed at 11:48 p.m. Shortly thereafter, several passengers bound for points south of Panama took off on another Pan American plane. The others spent the night in a hotel and will continue their interrupted journeys today.

Before Cadon had definitely been identified as the hijacker, a U.S. Embassy source in Mexico City erroneously reported that Hector Vioni, a passenger aboard the plane, had remained behind in Cuba.

Relatives of the Richmond, Ind. lawyer immediately branded this as preposterous.

Later the embassy sources said they were misinformed and added: "Our usually reliable connections got their names mixed up."

The sources emphasized Vioni was not involved in any way in the hijacking.

The crew of the $5-million jet liner was not armed, although three prior hijackings of American commercial planes since May 1 have led the government to authorize arming aircraft crews.

In this case, however, such arming would have required approval from the Mexican government. Furthermore, Pan American — the only American airline operating into Cuba under an agreement with the Castro regime — had anticipated no such hijacking.

In Washington, the fact that no Cuban was involved in the hijacking and Castro's prompt release of the plane seemed to sidetrack demands by some senators for an American ultimatum to Castro over the earlier hijacking of an Eastern Air Lines Electra July 24.

The Electra, held by the Cuban government, rested in front of a Havana airport building some 500 yards from where the Pan American jet landed.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Cadon would be charged in Miami with crime on the high seas, assault with a dangerous weapon and assault with intent to commit a felony.

The FBI described Cadon as an unbalanced itinerant artist and restaurant worker with a record of trouble going back to his childhood in France.

He came to this country in 1957 and was committed briefly last fall to New York's Bellevue Hospital for mental observation, the FBI said after talking to Cadon's wife Charlotte.

Mrs. Cadon told the FBI her husband left their New York City home last Friday after a quarrel and told her he was going to take a bus to Mexico.

She said Cadon had often spoken of his admiration for Castro.

Glen White, a Detroit auto executive, said "my first reaction was this guy was sick—awfully sick."

"This fellow with the wild hair ran down the aisle."

"I saw him stick an awfully big gun up against the steward's heart" soon after the Mexico City takeoff of the Pan American jetliner, White said.

"He jumped through into the cockpit and slammed the door. That was the last we saw of him until Cuban police escorted him from the jet at Havana."

"I and some others tried to figure out how to grab the plane ourselves. But we decided against it."

"Pan American opened the bar, and everybody had a drink and just relaxed."

"Right after we landed, this fellow was taken out of the plane and those soldiers on the ground saluted and cheered him as he walked toward the terminal."

Hector Vioni, 53, Richmond, Ind., attorney, said "A blue streak—the hijacker—shot down the aisle past me, backed the steward against a seat and ... kicked open the cockpit door."

"I don't think you would say there was any panic, although I think most of us were plenty nervous."

Plane Capt. Carl Ballard of Houston, Tex., said "Cadon threatened us several times. We were in great danger of being shot—not intentionally, but by accident. He said he'd kill us, and he said that when the problem came up we were not to land for fuel. He told us we'd crash first."

Colombian Foreign Minister Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala, one of the passengers, gave a terse account of the hijacking exploit.

"Five minutes after leaving Mexico City I saw a passenger rushing down the aisle from the back of the cabin. He had a pistol in his hand. He argued with a crewman. Then he pushed his foot in the door to the pilot's cabin and opened it. He closed it behind him with the two pilots inside."

Libraries Booming

At the 80th annual conference of the American Library Association in Cleveland, the health of the nation's public libraries was described as never better, the services never so widely used and the challenges potent. All three are signs that the literate American public is growing steadily despite the temptations and distractions of other types of free time entertainment.

Sweeping over library shelves like book subjects change rapidly. Scientifically and exploratory tomes, once numbered among the dust-catchers, no longer can be stocked in sufficient numbers. Changing book fashions of course play a large role in forging the challenges presented to libraries, and on their ability to supply every demand may rest their future.

Small libraries have not disappeared, but they face greater competition from multi-million-dollar literary centers, where the number of books, newspapers and other reference works available for the asking staggers the imagination.

Of interest to those who contend the younger generation is not sufficiently interested in serious affairs is the library association's report that reading by children is showing the greatest improvement of all age groups. Scientific developments of imaginative magnitude and the narrowing borders of man's world are credited with stimulating the young mind's curiosity into a more detailed comprehension of the printed word and its ability to answer the endless questions which pop into a fertile mind.

More than 8,200 public library systems and 1,450 college and university libraries — each more complete than the average library of a decade ago — now offer the nation one of the greatest treasure hoards known to mankind. And the wealth stored within these walls is available for the asking, waiting like the mother lode of the 1848 California gold country for the inquisitive mind to begin to scratch the surface.

Absent Child Empties a Home

NEW YORK (AP)—Nothing empties a home more than an absent child.

Our home is in that plight now. Tracy Ann, our 8-year-old daughter, is spending a week in the suburbs visiting her two god-sisters, Nina and Leila Palmer.

"A vacation from us will do her good—and maybe us too," my wife, Frances, said cheerfully when we left her. Like most mothers this time of summer, Frances can hardly wait for the school year to start again.

The first day of our vacation from our daughter wasn't bad at all.

"Isn't it restful?" said Frances. I had to admit it was restful—that first day.

But every waking hour in our home since then has brought a growing restlessness, a feeling of tension, a sense of something lacking.

Usually the apartment rings with sound from morning to night as Tracy and her playmates storm from one room to another.

You can trail them by the bread crumbs they drop. They are laughing, weeping, feuding fiercely at their games one moment, playing happily together the next.

Now it is strangely silent. You can hear the clock ticking on the wall. You can hear water drip from the air conditioner of our neighbor above down on the air conditioner outside our window. You can hear the wind pulse the door.

"I miss our mouse," says Frances. "It's so quiet it makes me nervous."

It makes me nervous, too. I walk into Tracy's room. It is too orderly. Her stuffed brown bear, Filigree, has that fixed look of loneliness all toys wear when they aren't in children's hands. Toys come to life only when they are picked up and held.

The empty room gives me an empty feeling.

No one there to remind, "Can't you ever learn to pick up your things? This room is a mess."

No one to put a bandage on and say to, "Don't cry, honey, it'll feel better in a moment."

But the one most restless of all is Lady Dottie, our cat. She mopes around the place saying "meow." She rubs against my legs. She leaps up into my wife's lap, pauses, then leaps down.

When none of us can stand it any longer, I go to the phone and call the suburbs and ask for Tracy.

"Lady Dottie says it's awfully lonesome here without you," I tell her craftily. "Don't you think it's about time?"

"I miss her, too," breaks in Tracy breathlessly. "And I miss you and Mommy, but, please, can't I stay a couple more days? I'm having a lot of fun, and—"

"Well, if you really want to," and I hang up reluctantly.

Tracy isn't homesick. We are—sick at home without her.

But I guess the experience is a kind of necessary growing-up ordeal for us, a prelude to the longer time of emptiness when the child becomes an adult and goes.

How do parents ever learn to endure that?

Stalin's Squeeze Play

By George Sokolsky

As early as the Potsdam Conference (July 17, 1945) Stalin made it clear that Soviet Russia would oppose the participation of China in European and world affairs, despite the fact that China had been at war with Japan since September 1931. Had China not kept Japan occupied, it is likely that the Japanese, using Manchuria as a base, would have conquered Mongolia and parts of Siberia as far east as Lake Baikal.

As a matter of fact, Japan had been active in that region since 1917 and it was only American intervention that saved both Russian and Chinese territory. Nevertheless, Soviet Russia never went into the Far Eastern War until it was over and then came in for the spoils.

So on July 17, 1945, when Stalin, Churchill and Truman were meeting at Potsdam to discuss matters, the following colloquy occurred:

"Stalin: I would like an explanation of the reason for China's participation in European affairs."

"Truman: China is one of the five members of the Security Council."

"Stalin: The decision taken at Crimea provided for quarterly conferences of the foreign secretaries. Does President Truman's suggestion supersede the Crimea proposal?"

"Truman: The Crimea proposal was temporary."

"Churchill: I think it a needless complication to bring China in. When it comes to drawing up the peace, all countries must come in. The preliminary work cannot be done by telegram. I am content that China should be admitted to drawing up the general provisions for peace but not for the day to day work. China is far from Europe and has not contributed to the European war. Do you really wish to discuss the administration of Germany with the Chinese delegation?"

So, China was pushed out of the meetings where it would have been possible for China to protect herself and her interests. In fact, Winston Churchill aided the Russians in this matter. He said:

"Until the Japanese war is over I see great difficulty in China's having a voice in the trying problems of Europe. I see no advantage in introducing China with the European settlement. They have not fought in Europe. It is possible that while the Council is sitting, the war with Japan will end. Then China can and should come into the World Peace Conference. I do not see that China could help us in settling the question of the Reich."

The next day, July 18, 1945, the China question was again raised by Russia.

"Mr. Molotov again raised the question of China but said that if the Council was to deal with other than exclusively European affairs the objections to China's participation would drop."

"Mr. Byrnes suggested that the Council be composed of five powers but that participation of China be limited to problems concerning the Far East or problems of world wide significance. The other reason for including China was that China is one of the permanent members of the Security Council."

This attitude of the Russians persisted throughout the Conference, despite the fact that Soviet Russia did not participate in the Far Eastern War until it was practically over. The Russians took the same position as regards France, namely, that France should have no voice in the settlement of European affairs, because France had not participated in the armistice.

It was clearly the Russian program first to reduce the discussion to among Three Powers, the United States, Soviet Russia, and Great Britain. Undoubtedly it was the Russian plan to squeeze out Great Britain as well.

Truman was told at the July 18 luncheon that Japan had been ready to make peace. The following is significant:

"I (Churchill) imparted to the President the disclosure made to me by Marshal Stalin the night before; and I told him he was quite free to talk it over with the Marshal, as I had informed him at the Marshal's expressed desire."

"Here I explained that Marshal Stalin had not wished to transmit this information direct to him for fear he might think the Russians were trying to influence him to take peace. I dwelt upon the tremendous cost in American life and, to a smaller extent, in British life which would be involved in forcing 'unconditional surrender' upon the Japanese."

It is startling to read today that American blood was spilled profusely after Japan had sought peace and that the atom bomb was hurled at Hiroshima after that.

A PARTICULARLY canny Scotsman managed to cadge many a free drink with a riddle he found in a book intended for children. He would sidle up to bar and propose to a friend, "I'll bet ye a drink ye canna answer this riddle of me bairn's. I'm not Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday. What am I?"

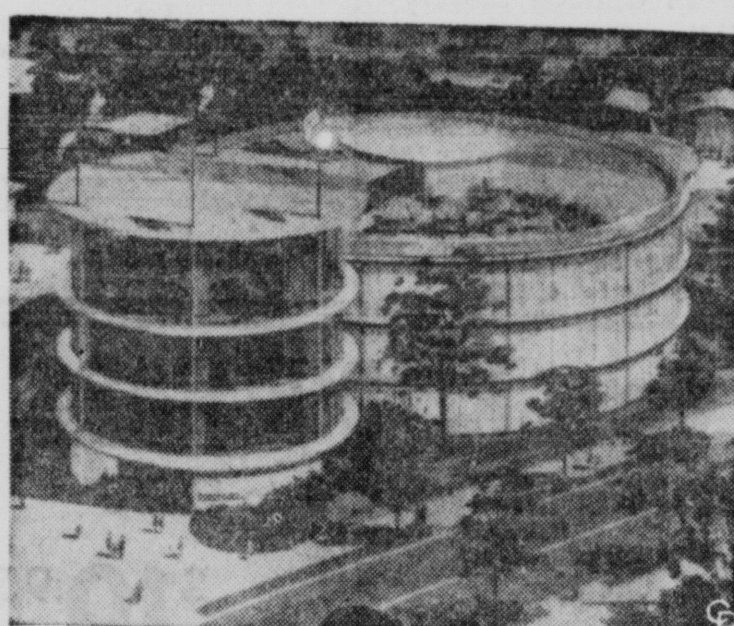

"Okay," the friend would usually answer indulgently. "Are you Thursday?"

"I sure am," the Scotsman would declare heartily. "This hot weather makes a mon verra Thursday indeed. So I'll be having a whiskey and soda."

"Listen to this," said a wife, reading the newspaper to her husband at the TV set. "It says here that an ingenious crook in Wisconsin cast a fishing line window to window across a court and hooked a new cashmere coat hanging on a neighbor's chair." "Ha," chortled the husband. "I bet that crook's still bragging about the big pair of trousers that got away."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Can electronic brains ever replace your family doctor? Those who think they know, screech! Yes! The real experts say No.

Your brain resembles an electronic computer. All five senses constantly feed in new information to be stored in memory cells. Later, you may need this information — perhaps to pass an exam.

Unlike the human brain, no million-dollar computer has ever come up with an original thought. Its memory cells merely store human ideas — the way recording tape remembers every word spoken into a microphone.

But even simple computers can remember human reasoning.

Tired of telling Junior what to wear each day. Mom had two electric switches installed downstairs, one labeled "rain," the other "shine." After checking the weather, she flips on one of the switches.

They control two lights in Junior's room, one marked "raincoat, rubbers and umbrella," the other, "jacket and sweater." Once Mom pushes the switch, the electric circuit "remembers" how Junior should dress.

Giant computers work the same way. The expert merely instructs — or "programs" — the machine how to handle thousands of different facts.

Why can't computers be programmed to recognize the symptoms of each disease and describe treatment?

Too many diseases mimic each other.

A hacking cough, stuffy nose and runny eyes might mean a cold, measles, hay fever or even whooping cough. Often doctors can't tell which; can a machine?

Also doctors often disagree.

While Eastern medics exclude meat from one special diet, their Texas colleagues advise plenty of Western beef. Which diet should be fed into the machine?

Today, computers are analyzing thousands of cases, helping doctors standardize symptoms, diseases and treatment. They're already turning up new facts. Few dentists knew that blueeyed people need less Novocain than brown-eyed patients.

Some day, memory machines may speed and ease doctors' work.

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—If you need any example of what happens when a totalitarian government takes over a country, Cuban Prime Minister Castro is up today with a fresh one.

A totalitarian government may be Fascist, Communist or what Castro calls Cuba's own brand of socialism. The one thing in common is that the state is dominant, not its citizens.

First, large private property holdings are confiscated in one form or another, with or without vague promises of compensation later. American firms suffered the loss of millions of dollars in assets and sales this way. One estimate is that American-owned property on the island was worth $861 million.

Next, cash holdings are gathered in by the simple device of declaring the old currency void and issuing a new currency—but only up to a small part of the total that any person above the lowest income brackets might have. The government keeps all but a minimum of the amount turned in.

How much of a loss this will be to Americans is unknown. Most U.S. corporations and individuals presumably have put their pesos into other currencies or investments long since.

But doubtless many Cuban refugees here will suffer. Cuban leaders estimate that 400 million of the old pesos are held outside the island, and thus became worthless over the weekend. Castro says most of this was taken to the United States by refugees.

The Cuban moves are in the classic pattern. They enable the Castro regime to get its hands on the property and cash of all but the poorest citizens.

They also help to halt, at least temporarily, the impending inflation caused by a growing shortage of some goods and foodstuffs on the island, which could command high prices on the black market—if people had pesos with which to buy.

The peso officially has been carried as the equal of the Yankee dollar, and formerly was freely exchangeable on that basis. But of late one foreign exchange dealer in New York has been willing to pay only 16 American cents for one Cuban peso. It says it has kept the peso on its list only because it wants to maintain its record of dealing in all foreign currencies.

Trade with Cuba has dwindled to a trickle. The United States cut off imports of Cuban sugar. We now import only tobacco, fruit and sugar molasses. And we send Cuba only food, medicine and medical supplies.

The Cuban government has an estimated $3 million here in various assets. Individual Cubans, most of the refugees now, are said to have about $58 million. But these are valued in Yankee dollars and not subject to the Cuban peso confiscation.

Libraries Booming

At the 80th annual conference of the American Library Association in Cleveland, the health of the nation's public libraries was described as never better, the services never so widely used and the challenges potentious. All three are signs that the literate American public is growing steadily despite the temptations and distractions of other types of free time entertainment.

Sweeping over library shelves like book subjects change rapidly. Scientifically and exploratory tomes, once numbered among the dust-catchers, no longer can be stocked in sufficient numbers. Changing book fashions of course play a large role in forging the challenges presented to libraries, and on their ability to supply every demand may rest their future.

Small libraries have not disappeared, but they face greater competition from multi-million-dollar literary centers, where the number of books, newspapers and other reference works available for the asking staggers the imagination.

Of interest to those who contend the younger generation is not sufficiently interested in serious affairs is the library association's report that reading by children is showing the greatest improvement of all age groups. Scientific developments of imaginative magnitude and the narrowing borders of man's world are credited with stimulating the young mind's curiosity into a more detailed comprehension of the printed word and its ability to answer the endless questions which pop into a fertile mind.

More than 8,200 public library systems and 1,450 college and university libraries — each more complete than the average library of a decade ago — now offer the nation one of the greatest treasure hoards known to mankind. And the wealth stored within these walls is available for the asking, waiting like the mother lode of the 1848 California gold country for the inquisitive mind to begin to scratch the surface.

Absent Child Empties a Home

Stalin's Squeeze Play

As early as the Potsdam Conference (July 17, 1945) Stalin made it clear that Soviet Russia would oppose the participation of China in European and world affairs, despite the fact that China had been at war with Japan since September 1931. But doubtless many Cuban refugees here will suffer. Cuban leaders estimate that 400 million of the old pesos are held outside the island, and thus become worthless over the weekend. Castro says most of this was taken to the United States by refugees.

The Cuban moves are in the classic pattern. They enable the Castro regime to get its hands on the property and cash of all but the poorest citizens.

They also help to halt, at least temporarily, the impending inflation caused by a growing shortage of some goods and foodstuffs on the island, which could command high prices on the black market—if people had pesos with which to buy.

We now import only tobacco, fruit and sugar molasses. And we send Cuba only food, medicine and medical supplies.

The Cuban government has an estimated $3 million here in various assets. Individual Cubans, most of the refugees now, are said to have about $58 million. But these are valued in Yankee dollars and not subject to the Cuban peso confiscation.

Dear Abby...

A Reason for Everything

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I run a very successful little cafe. I keep my eye on the help and, when I see them abusing the equipment or getting careless in their work, I speak to them about it. I think it is my husband's place to lay down the law, but he likes to be jolly and well-liked, so I have to do the dirty work. I am tired of being the crabby old lady while my husband is the good-natured guy. Any suggestions?

OLD CRAB

DEAR O. C.: Every successful operation needs a "heavy"—and you are it. You and your good-natured husband make a good team, and share equally in the profits, so don't harness your husband with a halter that doesn't fit him.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of parents (they are also grandparents) who are too lazy, or lacking in imagination, to buy gifts for special occasions?

They send us checks for birthdays, anniversaries and even Christmas. Just before the children's birthdays (and Christmas, too) they slip me the cash and say, "Buy them something nice. You know better than we what they want."

We are not hard up, and these gifts of cash and checks seem very cold to me. How should I (the daughter-in-law) let them know that their "gifts" have no sentimental value?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: I think your in-laws are being very practical and considerate. Many would appreciate the opportunity to select their own gifts. Shame on you. Be grateful that you are remembered, and quit finding fault.

Chill Soup In Morning For Evening Meal

Summer...with its high temperatures and humidity...often brings about a reversal in meal preparation. In the cool of the early dew, it's the smart home-maker who cuts up the fruit for salad or makes the dessert for the evening meal. Add to this list of "make aheads", chilled soups...made from canned frozen condensed soups.

Around 6 o'clock when Dad comes home from the office and the teen-agers stroll in from their summer jobs, they'll all be convinced that nothing...under this hot sun...will revive them. You, of course, have outsmarted them by setting a frosted bowl of chilled cream of shrimp soup at each place.

The first spoonful reveals smoothness and flavor unexcelled in any other soup. In moments, all those wilted appetites will not only come to life but requests for a chilled soup every night will soon fill the air.

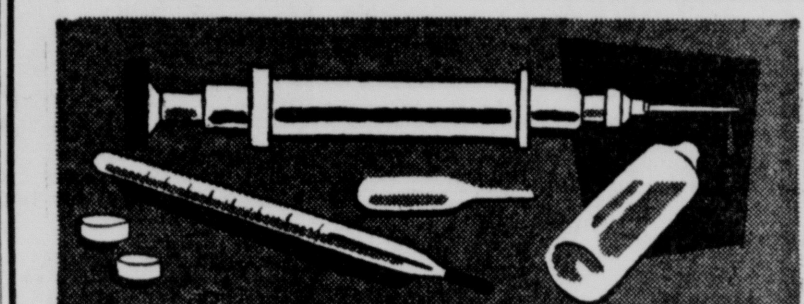

Make your chilled soup debut with this recipe:

Herbed Shrimp Frost
1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
1 soup can water
1/2 medium tomato, chopped
2 tablespoons chopped cucumber
1/2 teaspoon chopped chives
1/2 teaspoon dill weed

Combine all ingredients. Heat, stirring now and then. Place in refrigerator for at least 4 hours. Serve in chilled bowls. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Dear Abby...

By Ahigail VanBuren

A Reason for Everything

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I run a very successful little cafe. I keep my eye on the help and, when I see them abusing the equipment or getting careless in their work, I speak to them about it. I think it is my husband's place to lay down the law, but he likes to be jolly and well-liked, so I have to do the dirty work. I am tired of being the crabby old lady while my husband is the good-natured guy. Any suggestions?

OLD CRAB

DEAR O. C.: Every successful operation needs a "heavy"—and you are it. You and your good-natured husband make a good team, and share equally in the profits, so don't harness your husband with a halter that doesn't fit him.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of parents (they are also grandparents) who are too lazy, or lacking in imagination, to buy gifts for special occasions?

They send us checks for birthdays, anniversaries and even Christmas. Just before the children's birthdays (and Christmas, too) they slip me the cash and say, "Buy them something nice. You know better than we what they want."

We are not hard up, and these gifts of cash and checks seem very cold to me. How should I (the daughter-in-law) let them know that their "gifts" have no sentimental value?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: I think your in-laws are being very practical and considerate. Many would appreciate the opportunity to select their own gifts. Shame on you. Be grateful that you are remembered, and quit finding fault.

TARGET IN SIGHT — A U. S. Army infantryman aims the new REDEYE surface-to-air guided missile. Being developed by General Dynamics/Pomona, the new infra-red guided missile is shoulder fired. It is designed for use against low-flying strafing and bombing aircraft. The launcher tube resembles the "bazooka" in appearance but contains a composite missile structure of propellant, electronic guidance system and high-explosive warhead. It serves as a shipping container when capped at both ends. Missile and launcher weigh about 20 pounds.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before your blood pressure goes up, thinking of Fidel Castro and hijacked American planes, look at the record. It's a dizzy, almost incredible story, compounded of confusion.

So far as the record shows Castro initiated none of the hijackings. There were four. Three of the four planes were forced to land in Cuba. Castro immediately released two, kept one. The fourth got detoured to El Paso. None of the five hijackers involved was a Cuban citizen. Two were Americans from Arizona, one was a Frenchman, one a Puerto Rican, and one, a waiter, was born in Cuba but had become a naturalized American citizen.

Meanwhile Cubans fleeing Castro hijacked or flew 24 of his planes to this country. The United States returned 14 of them to him. The other 10 were seized under a court order to be sold for a debt owed by the Cuban government to a Miami businessman.

And if Castro had used his head he probably could have gotten the 10 back, too. How? A State Department spokesman said: If Castro had invoked Cuban sovereignty over the planes the American court most likely would have refused to let the planes be seized.

Why didn't he do that, since it sounds so simple? The State Department spokesman said this was the answer: He probably didn't know how he could do that, or he didn't think of it, or per-

BRACING POINT—The sign isn't car fair, but it gives the gate to two of man's best friends in a swank sanctuary in the Philadelphia suburb of Chestnut Hill. The sign is especially rough on dogs, because it guards a garden of trees.

New officers are: Jack M. McCann, president, an attorney in Waverly; Dale Seif, vice president, a farmer and manager of Waverly Feed and Grain Co.; Tom Paridon, secretary, president of the Tender Sweet Poultry Co., and Raymond A. Johnson, assistant secretary, owner and manager of Capital Securities Company in Columbus.

McKenzie is executive vice president and managing officer of the Scioto Building and Loan Co., W. Main St. He served as a branch office manager for City Loan for a number of years.

OTHER directors are Walter Billiar who will serve as general manager of the Waverly office; Basil (Sam) Wells, Chillicothe contractor official; James B. According to officials of the firm, the company intends to open other branch offices throughout Ohio as soon as adequate capital is available.

haps he couldn't find a lawyer to represent him here.

But that's only the beginning. Wednesday a French gunman, over Mexico and at gunpoint, forced the pilot of a Pan American World Airways plane with 81 persons aboard to fly him to Havana. After it was all over an official of the airline said the gunman was incoherent and had no connection with Cuba. Crew members described the hijacker as a wild-eyed and apparently mentally disturbed.

Before all this was known there were angry shouts in Congress. But Castro would not have had to send an agent to Mexico to capture a Pan American plane. Pan American is the only American airline still maintaining regular flights between Cuba and this country. So if Castro wanted to, he could have helped himself to some Pan American planes on the ground in Havana.

But this would have been the worst possible time to hijack an American plane. All the American nations are meeting right now in Uruguay where the United States has offered $20 billion in Latin American aid.

One of Castro's chief lieutenants, Ernesto Guevara, is there, trying to make the United States look like a villain. He made a speech to that effect. Castro would be the villain if he turned hijacker at this time.

The truly ludicrous touch came here:

Instead of trying to chastise Castro directly, the United States is anxious for the Latin-American countries to crack down on him. No one has been working harder to get just this crackdown on Castro than the Colombian foreign minister, Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala. And Castro knows it. By chance, the minister was in the plane hijacked Wednesday and forced down in Havana.

If Castro had tried to hold him there would have been a Latin-American explosion. Castro's government lost no time in announcing it was releasing the plane right away in deference to the Colombian minister. Castro even went to the airport to see him. The diplomat quoted Castro as expressing mortification.

Traffic Court Value Hailed

Top Jurist Calls It 'Most Important'

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A United States Supreme Court justice said today "there can be no more important court in this whole land than the traffic courts."

"If respect for law and respect for court indeed begins right at this level," Associate Justice Tom C. Clark said in a speech prepared for a symposium of the American Bar Association.

Six municipal judges from communities with outstanding traffic court programs swapped views on what the nation's traffic courts can do about one of America's gravest problems, the traffic law violator.

All of them agreed the traffic court judge should make the most of his educational opportunities.

Several felt all moving violators such as speeders or those who run a stop sign should be required to make personal court appearances.

The judges agreed traffic violators fall into three general categories of the "can'ts," "don'ts," those who have physical or mental impairment. The Don'ts lack knowledge of basic safe driving. The Won'ts are those who wilfully and flagrantly violate traffic laws.

Judge James A. Ravella of Warren, Ohio, said his experience is that the Won't usually is a youthful person attended by several friends.

"We have studied the reaction of his fellow mates while in the court and they hold this type of violator in high esteem and as a hero," Judge Ravella said. "Under these circumstances it would be a good psychological time for a court to make the impact that needs to be made . . . by the imposition of a stiff penalty such as a jail sentence."

ZINNIA BY THE MILLIONS — Here Mrs. Herman Davis, Route 4, Circleville, is pictured in the extensive planting of zinnias which the Davises made across the road from their home which is on the Lyman Penn farm. The zinnias are carefully tended and the grass strip between the flowers and the road kept mowed. A beautiful sight! Mrs. Davis says her husband likes the flowers as much as she does and works just as hard on them.

Roadside Zinnia Planting Beautiful

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Davis, Route 4, Circleville, live in the tenant house on the Lyman Penn farm. Just let a weed show up within the vicinity of the house and the Davises are after it with sickle, scythe, mower or spade.

The result is the tidiest of farmyards and fine flower displays.

The Davises use discarded tractor tires for flower bed boundaries. They have flower boxes at many of the windows and circular flower beds surrounding the young trees which they have planted.

Within the tractor tires are glad-oli. Mrs. Davis says some of them are as tall as she is with five inch florets. Once planted the Davises leave the corns undisturbed. Mrs. Davis goes on the theory that the corns actually profit by the shade and coolness provided by the small weeds.

THE GLADIOLI in the tire near the road have not done well but have blighted, and it is Mrs. Davis's opinion that the fumes from the road tar are responsible. This is possible.

However, none of the other flowers have suffered in similar manner.

There are French marigolds in one tire. The boxes are filled with petanias and geraniums.

But the spectacular planting of zinnias across the road is the Davis masterpiece. They have spaded up an area 126 by 6 feet along the neighbor's fence. This is planted in zinnias of every hue. The flowers are now in bloom.

The Davises asked permission of the road men before they started this project. The highway workers are careful not to spray in the vicinity of the Davis house. In fact there would be small reason to do so because Herman and Mrs. Davis keep the weeds under control themselves.

The grass margin between the zinnias and the road is carefully groomed. To cut the grass the Davises have to tilt their mower at a sharp angle. Mrs. Davis admits it's a real chore.

IN ORDER not to have the zinnias obscured, Herman Davis has moved the grass all the way to the bridge several yards beyond the planting.

What's more, he has taken his sickle and cut the weeds between the cornfield and the fence. So the zinnias have as a background only the tall well-grown tasseled corn grown by the neighbor.

The highway workers have told Mrs. Davis that if all farm families had such a display across the road from their homes, this would be an outstanding county. It would indeed.

But such a planting is a real undertaking.

Mrs. Davis admits this. When she first decided to plant zinnias across the road Herman Davis first spaded up the sod. And Mrs. Davis says, "Oh my! That sod was hard."

Then they used the hand plow to break up the clumps. Next they spaded in commercial fertilizer. Then they were ready to plant the seeds which Mrs. Davis had saved. And this was a wise idea, to save the seeds, for such an extensive planting would have been costly had packaged seeds been used.

Then they waited for the right sign before the actual seeding took place.

LYMAN PENN who swears by the almanac gave the signal that "posy days" had arrived and zinnias were planted.

It's a real sight to see the Davis zinnias. And it's as the highway worker says: "If everybody would do this we'd have a lovely county."

Raising Roses From Cuttings Is Interesting

There are scores of people who prove their green thumbs by raising roses from cuttings.

We have one friend near Pleasantville who has a rather extensive garden of roses, many of which she and her husband propagated in this manner.

In recent issues of Horticulture Magazine, Doris W. Weinshiemer of Philadelphia, Pa., gave detailed instructions on growing roses from cuttings.

We'll check on the plant patent laws, but I am under the impression that gardeners may not sell such rose plants.

DORIS Weinshiemer gives the following easy instructions: Choose the stem of a recently shattered rose (after the petals have dropped) which breaks with a snap when bent. Then count down six sets of leaves (three on each side) and nip the stem of the parent plant just below the sixth set.

Next cut off two bottom sets of leaves without disturbing the nodes and remove the two top sets by nipping the stem directly below them, on an angle.

Next find a sunlit spot in the garden. Loosen the soil then pat it firmly with the palm of your hand. Using an ice pick or dowel make as many holes in the ground as you have cuttings. Slip each cutting into the hole up to but not covering the two sets of remaining leaves.

Pat the soil firmly around each cutting and cover with a quart glass jar. Secure the jar firmly in the ground and label each one of them carefully.

Cuttings may be made any time from June until frost. But if you experiment during the hot weather dress the jars in white paper bags. When the rainfall is inadequate treat the cuttings to a light spray.

IF YOUR plant is successful tiny leaves will appear in about four weeks and the original leaves will drop off.

Neither the cuttings nor the jars should be disturbed until the following spring when all danger of frost is passed.

Then when you are ready to transplant, dig them up carefully leaving a fair sized clump of soil around the undisturbed roots.

If it sounds complicated we will tell you that we know many gardeners who successfully grow roses from cuttings. If you have a rose you like, try growing another one.

New Product Aids Gardeners Having Lawn Problems

Erase is a unique new product which makes it possible for the homeowner to transform a problem-ridden lawn into a lawn he can be proud of — without digging up his old lawn or bringing in topsoil.

It can be done easily by the man of the house, his wife or teenager.

Erase is a dry granular substance which wipes out crabgrass, weeds and other grasses — all vegetation — in a simple spreader application. It works thoroughly and fast.

Seed for a new lawn can be planted in just a few days, right on the stubble of the old lawn.

THERE is no scratching up of soil for seedbed and no need to cover the seed — just seeding and fertilizing after a good soaking rain or watering.

There is no danger to the new seed because Erase does not affect or soil — acts only through absorption by foliage.

Wrong Disposal Squad Gets Parcel Delivered to Bank

DAYTON, Ohio — (AP) Tuesday a woman walked into Winters National Bank and Trust Co. in downtown Dayton and put a package on the information desk.

Employees eyed it casually until she said she found it propped against a building in East Dayton. It was addressed to the loan department of the bank and because it had no postage on it the woman said she delivered it.

Then employees got jittery. They called police and all decided the package was about the size of several sticks of dynamite. The police called the demolition and explosive squad from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

The experts carried it to a huge field at the air base. There they gingerly unwrapped the package.

The bang came when the squad peeked inside and found a sack full of potato peelings and sauerkraut.

Garden Gossip

Herbert Southward, E. Main St., says if he could have only one rose he would choose Charlotte Armstrong.

Well, we saw the very popular Americana which Jackson and Perkins has designated "Rose of the Year". It is indeed lovely but so help me it can't beat John S. Armstrong.

I'm having lots of fun with the "Proof of the Pudding" in the 1961 American Rose Annual. Hitherto the print has been so small I did not bother reading it. This section of the rose annual is a report from every part of the country on the performance of certain roses.

We looked up "Peaceport" in the annual. Several places mentioned it as having a poor bud or poor bud form. I immediately decided I'd look at Peaceport's buds the next chance I got. The buds are fat and round. A tapering bud is far prettier.

Mrs. J. H. Crowley, Park St., is delighted with the climbing rose on her fence. This is its third blooming and the blossoms are just as abundant as though it were spring. The Crowleys purchased the Boyer home. The rose had been planted by them. It was growing on a white board fence.

Mowery Plot Has Touch Of Gypsy Blood

Jim Mowery, 122 S. Pickaway St., may have a mite of Gypsy blood in him judging from colors in his garden.

If you like color, and who doesn't, Jim's flowers are brighter and gayer than a Mexican festival.

Cerise petunias and scarlet sage, roses of all colors and zinnias of rainbow hues that's Jim Mowery's garden now.

If you go for "riot of bloom" gardens you'll love the Mowery garden.

COLOR-WISE this garden is a wild, mad, exuberant blend. Horticulturally, Jim Mowery is a careful scientific gardener. There's not a weed. There's not a bug. The rows are straight. It's a garden that is well under control.

Incidentally, the Mowery tomatoes are always the first in the neighborhood. Right now it looks as though he will be first again.

State Savings, Loan Groups Hike Assets

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Assets of state-chartered savings and loan associations increased $190 million during the first six months of 1961 to a record high of $4 billion. Andrew Putka, superintendent of building and loan associations, reports.

He said the increase was also the greatest six-month gain in history. Putka said the big jump shows Ohioans are saving at a record rate and that building and loan associations are getting a greater percentage of the mortgage loan market.

Also disclosed in the semi-annual report was that the Citizens Savings Association of Canton has become the seventh state-chartered group to have assets of $100 million or more.

The others are Broadview Savings & Loan Co., Cleveland, 180 million; Gem City Savings & Loan Association, Dayton, $156 million; City Savings & Loan Co., Lima, $145 million; Home Savings & Loan Co., Youngstown, $121 million; Union Savings & Loan Co., Cleveland, $106 million, and Shaker Savings Association, Shaker Heights, $106 million.

The state has 440 charters associations and companies with 129 branches.

It seems to me pachysandra does not flourish with the same abandon locally that it does other places. Is it perhaps that our soil is too alkaline. Pachysandra likes a moderately acid soil with a pH between 5.0 and 6.0.

Robert L. Kuhn, Washington and High Sts., gave me a demonstration of an electric mower. I had been under the impression that if you had an electric mower you had a long electric cord like a vacuum sweeper. In Kuhn's case he plugged the mower line into a socket to start the motor thereby eliminating that difficult business of pulling the rope. Go around to see Kuhn for a demonstration. I don't know of anybody who has a big planting of phlox but this ought to be an elegant year for it. Phlox should be more widely used than it is. There's no finer plant for the late garden.

Try To Keep Evergreens In Best Possible Condition

By TIM TEEGARDEN

In the first article I discussed the importance of keeping your landscaping reasonably simple. I also suggested the evergreens that I thought best qualified for the purpose. These plants, as all other living plants, are susceptible to insects and disease.

Among the evergreens mentioned, there was the Pyramidal Arbor Vitae. There are a number of insects to watch for in this plant but there are only two that are common.

One is the tipdwarf mite. This mite may attack any kind of Arbor Vitae. Its typical damage brings rough, uneven foliage and a bend on the tip growth. While this mite does not kill, it can certainly ruin the looks of a landscape.

If the damage occurs during the summer, either Malathion or Parathion may be used to check any further spreading.

The other nuisance to watch for is the bag worm. This is a mature worm that attacks practically any tree or shrub, but is especially destructive to evergreen foliage.

THIS worm actually feeds on the foliage and can in short time destroy the entire plant. The best control for them is hand picking and burning them. However, a heavy dose of lead arsenate will do more than discourage them.

One of the other types of plants I mentioned was the Pfitzeriana Juniper and its blood brother the blue Pfitzeriana Juniper (Hetzi). This is of course the standard spreader and being a Juniper, susceptible to a number of diseases.

The most common annoyance known to the Juniper are Juniper blight and spruce spider mite, better known as red spider mite.

The Juniper Blight is a serious injury and should not be taken lightly. It is favored by moist seasons and can easily become epidemic, destroying entire beds.

The symptoms are easily seen and recognized as the tips of the branches turn brown and die back. This progresses until the entire tree or eventually the entire tree is killed.

It is important to cut the dead branches off and burn them or the whole plant if it is necessary. The best control for this is a spray of Bordeaux and it should be used weekly. Incidentally, the older trees which are infected are usually not so severely damaged.

THE spruce spider mite, commonly called the "Evergreen red spider", is often found in the spreading Juniper. It is not terribly serious but if it gains control it can become so. Any infected foliage often may be recognized by its dull grayish cast.

The mites are extremely hard to see because they are so small, however, one can be spotted on the hand with a magnifying glass if shaken there from an infected branch. A fine grade of dusting sulfur will provide control if applied efficiently.

The last type of plant that I recommended was the Taxus or Yew. This plant is a hardy plant and usually singled out from other evergreens as being "disease free".

This is hardly true. However, it is the least likely to contract a disease. A few things to watch for are again the tipdwarf mite, termites, thrips, and a few others, but nothing to worry about. If something looks unusual about a Taxus that you have, they are precious enough to call an expert. Call him immediately.

THE IMPORTANCE of rigid pest control cannot be over emphasized. It is important not only that such pests be controlled to prevent immediate losses but also to discourage any further spreading.

Our own plantings are important to us. It is important to recognize pests early, attack them with vigor, and maintain only pest free plants around our homes.

In the first article I discussed the importance of keeping your landscaping reasonably simple. I also suggested the evergreens that I thought best qualified for the purpose. These plants, as all other living plants, are susceptible to insects and disease.

Among the evergreens mentioned, there was the Pyramidal Arbor Vitae. There are a number of insects to watch for in this plant but there are only two that are common.

One is the tipdwarf mite. This mite may attack any kind of Arbor Vitae. Its typical damage brings rough, uneven foliage and a bend on the tip growth. While this mite does not kill, it can certainly ruin the looks of a landscape.

If the damage occurs during the summer, either Malathion or Parathion may be used to check any further spreading.

The other nuisance to watch for is the bag worm. This is a mature worm that attacks practically any tree or shrub, but is especially destructive to evergreen foliage.

THIS worm actually feeds on the foliage and can in short time destroy the entire plant. The best control for them is hand picking and burning them. However, a heavy dose of lead arsenate will do more than discourage them.

One of the other types of plants I mentioned was the Pfitzeriana Juniper and its blood brother the blue Pfitzeriana Juniper (Hetzi). This is of course the standard spreader and being a Juniper, susceptible to a number of diseases.

The most common annoyance known to the Juniper are Juniper blight and spruce spider mite, better known as red spider mite.

The Juniper Blight is a serious injury and should not be taken lightly. It is favored by moist seasons and can easily become epidemic, destroying entire beds. The symptoms are easily seen and recognized as the tips of the branches turn brown and die back. This progresses until the entire branch or eventually the entire tree is killed.

It is important to cut the dead branches off and burn them or the whole plant if it is necessary. The best control for this is a spray of Bordeaux and it should be used weekly. Incidentally, the older trees which are infected are usually not so severely damaged.

THE spruce spider mite, commonly called the "Evergreen red spider", is often found in the spreading Juniper. It is not terribly serious but if it gains control it can become so. Any infested foliage often may be recognized by its dull grayish cast.

The mites are extremely hard to see because they are so small, however, one can be spotted on the hand with a magnifying glass if shaken there from an infected branch. A fine grade of dusting sulfur will provide control if applied efficiently.

The last type of plant that I recommended was the Taxus or Yew. This plant is a hardy plant and usually singled out from other evergreens as being "disease free".

This is hardly true. However, it is the least likely to contract a disease. A few things to watch for are again the tipdwarf mite, termites, thrips, and a few others, but nothing to worry about.

If something looks unusual about a Taxus that you have, they are precious enough to call an expert. Call him immediately.

THE IMPORTANCE of rigid pest control cannot be over emphasized. It is important not only that such pests be controlled to prevent immediate losses but also to discourage any further spreading.

Our own plantings are important to us. It is important to recognize pests early, attack them with vigor, and maintain only pest free plants around our homes.

Dodger Hurler Bats, Pitches To 8-3 Victory

Drysdale Gets Grand
Slam Homer, Allows
Braves but 4 Hits

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Dodgers remain their one-game lead over Cincinnati in the National League by beating the Milwaukee Braves 8-3 Wednesday night as right-hander Don Drysdale hit a grand slam homer, allowed only four hits and struck out 11.

The Reds, after losing four of their last five, got back on the beam again against Philadelphia, 5-0, for a 16-0 record against the Phils. That's one shy of the NL record for consecutive victories against one club in one season, set by Pittsburgh against the Reds in 1936.

San Francisco defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-5, on Matty Alou's ninth-inning homer, and St. Louis stopped Pittsburgh 4-0, on a grand slam by Julio Javier.

In the American League, New York beat Los Angeles 2-0 and stayed three games ahead of the Detroit Tigers, who won 8-2 at Chicago. Kansas City edged Baltimore, 2-1; Cleveland defeated Washington 3-1, and Boston beat Minnesota 5-4.

Drysdale (10-6) had trouble only from Joe Adcock, who drove in all of the Braves' runs with a pair of homers. The first tied it 1-1 in the second inning, but Drysdale then broke it up with his bases-loaded shot—the 18th home run of his career and fourth of the year—off Don Nottebart (3-6). It was the first slam by a Dodger pitcher since Erv Palica connected for one back in 1950.

Right-hander Joey Jay (16-7), the NL's top winner, blanked the last place Phils on six hits for Philadelphia's 13th consecutive defeat, one short of the club record. Elio Chacon walked and scored the Reds' first run in the second inning off Don Ferrarese (2-9), and then belted his first major league homer in the fifth.

The Cards had been blanked on four hits by southpaw Joe Gibbon (8-7) for seven innings before Javier teed off for his first major league slam. The Bucs, who walked St. Louis 19-0 in their last meeting, were shut out on seven hits by winner Curt Simmons (7-7) and Ed Bauta.

Alou was 3-for-5 and drove in two runs for the Giants, breaking a 5-5 tie with his home run off losing reliever Barney Schultz (5-3). Stu Miller (9-3) won it in relief.

Interest High In Assault on Ruth's Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone it seems, from former President Herbert Hoover down, is excited about the possibility of Mickey Mantle or Roger Maris of the New York Yankees breaking Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs in 1927.

Neither got a homer Wednesday as the Yankees beat Los Angeles 2-0 for their seventh straight, but Mantle, with 43, and Maris, with 41, both are ahead of the Babe's record pace 34 years ago. Many think Mantle has the better chance of erasing the Babe's mark, but will he?

Only five years ago Mantle seemed to be in equally good position to become the major league's new home run king. He had 42 homers after the Yankees' 12th game on Aug. 14. At the end of August he still was ahead of Ruth's 1927 pace with 47 homers. But in September he added only five and finished with 52.

Once again Mantle is face to face with the task of beating the Babe's 17-homer September production that, over the years, has balked such other famed sluggers as Jimmy Foxx, Hank

Reid Fans 15, TV Wins 3-0 In Playoff Tilt

Kenny Reid tossed a 15-strikeout shutout at the Sportsman's Club outfit as Stonerock's TV moved in to the loser's bracket semifinals of the District 8 softball tournament by a 3-0 count last night at Ted Lewis Park.

Reid fanned at least two men every inning, whiffing the side in the second. The Hillsboro crew threatened only once, when Fields singled and Rockhold doubled in the first. Stonerock's ace hurler struck out Fleishner to end the rally.

The locals took a 2-0 margin in the third, as Neff and Davis scored on a pair of walks, errors and stolen bases.

In the fifth, Davis whalloped a double with one down and scurried across the plate for Stonerock's final marker as Harold Gulick connected for a line single to right.

FLEISHNER cracked a single with two out in the sixth for Hillsboro's last safety. Reid walked only two men. Fleishner fanned three and issued five free tickets in taking the defeat.

Tonight, the TV nine takes on Calvary Lutheran Church to determine which team plays Chamberlin in Friday night's loser's finale. The loser's champ will face River Oil, undefeated winner's division leaders, to end the playoffs.

Warrenite Holds Lead in Ohio Publinx

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP)—A 31-year old Warren fireman and prizefighter held a five stroke lead today as Ohio's 28th public links golf championship went into its second round.

Lulu Sabotin, who was Floyd Patterson's fifth straight knockout victim as he surged to the heavyweight title, scored seven birdies Wednesday to finish five-under-par 65 over the Riceland Country Club course.

Only 13 of the 360 starters were able to break par as half the field performed at the Riceland club and the other at the Elms course.

Chasing Sabotin was some of the state's classiest talent. Deadlocked at 70 were Tom Miller of Orville; Don Nist of Canton, the 25-year-old former state legislator who won the 1957 title; Harry Welch of Akron; Don Stickney of Columbus; Edward Slish, 39, of Canton; Jim Caspio, of Cleveland, and Art Todd, of Columbus, the 1959 champion.

Five others were tied at 71—Frank Gacek of Parma, Tohe Silbert of Canton, Don Martin of Mentor, John Nahi of Ashtabula and Marion Heck of Columbiana.

The fields change courses today for another 18-hole round and the low 120 will play again Friday. The low 60 play 36 holes in the marathon finish and the other 60 wind up at the 54-hole mark.

Groza Practicing and Ready If Browns '11' Ever Need Him

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Golden-toed Lou Groza, who contributed 1,001 points to the Cleveland cause in 14 campaigns, is ready to resume his place-kicking chores the minute the Browns need him.

Big Lou surrendered as an active player after the 1959 season to join the Browns' coaching-personnel staff — but he's as busy as a rookie on the practice field.

The Martins Ferry giant scored only one touchdown in his illustrious career—but with 742 points is the second-best point-getter the National Football League has ever known. Only Green Bay's Don Hutson, with 825, is ahead of him.

Don scored 105 touchdowns, 174 extra points and seven field goals in 11 years, while Lou had 343 extra points and 131 field goals to go along with his lone six-pointer. Groza's field goal mark is 43 ahead of his nearest foe, and his extra point total is 28 ahead of the pack. Add the four seasons in the old All-America Conference, and Lou's field goal record jumps to 161 and his extra points to 525.

Here at Hiram's training camp, Lou goes through nearly two hours of kicking practice daily, alongside Sam Baker who succeeded him.

Asked if he planned to do any booting in games this fall, Lou answered: "I'm ready the minute Coach Brown asks me."

Coach Paul Brown said: "Lou is doing this on his own. He wants to let us know he's available. He's on our reserve list, and we can get him into a game pretty fast. And you can bet we'll do it the minute we need him. He's still the greatest."

The Browns are on the practice field only a couple of hours a day, but spend plenty of time in classrooms. The average age of the 42 players is about 25 years, and like all growing boys they eat plenty.

They also eat well. Each morning, along with fruit juices, cereals, rolls and toast, they consume 18 dozen eggs and nine pounds of bacon.

Lunch is fairly light, but in the evening they put away about 30 pounds of potatoes, huge amounts of salads, milk, fruit juices and meat.

One night they ate 80 pounds of tenderloin roast, the next 90 pounds of strip steaks. Other evening meals featured T-bone steaks.

Indians Show Signs of Still Being Alive

CLEVELAND (AP) — Even though the Cleveland Indians' current three-game winning streak seems paltry compared to the nine game skein they had in May, it's an indication the Indians are not going to play dead despite the fact they're all but mathematically out of contention for first or second place in the American League.

Before its 3-1 victory Wednesday night on Gary Bell's three-hitter, Cleveland had not won three straight since they took three in a row from the Boston Red Sox in mid-July.

The only extra base hit off Bell (8-11) was rookie first baseman Bud Zipfel's solo homer in the first inning. After Marty Keough singled in the second, Bell pitched no-hit ball until Danny O'Connell opened the ninth with a single.

The Indians scored all their runs in the fourth off John Gabler. Tito Francona singled, Willie Kirkland followed suit and Bubba Phillips doubled to score Francona. John Romano then cracked a single to left for two more runs.

The Indians play the Cincinnati Reds in an exhibition game here tonight. The Reds are one game behind the first place Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League race.

The game is an annual affair—the Cleveland baseball Federation Sandlot Day. Larry Patterson (5-5) and Tommy John (3-2), both of the Cleveland Dubuque farm team of the Mid-West Class D League, will hurl for the Indians.

NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone it seems, from former President Herbert Hoover down, is excited about the possibility of Mickey Mantle or Roger Maris of the New York Yankees breaking Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs in 1927.

Neither got a homer Wednesday as the Yankees beat Los Angeles 2-0 for their seventh straight, but Mantle, with 43, and Maris, with 41, both are ahead of the Babe's record pace 34 years ago. Many think Mantle has the better chance of erasing the Babe's mark, but will he?

Only five years ago Mantle seemed to be in equally good position to become the major league's new home run king. He had 42 homers after the Yankees' 112th game on Aug. 14. At the end of August he still was ahead of Ruth's 1927 pace with 47 homers. But in September he added only five and finished with 52.

Once again Mantle is face to face with the task of beating the Babe's 17-homer September production that, over the years, has balked such other famed sluggers as Jimmy Foxx, Hank

Terry Averill Grabs Laurels at Scioto
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Terry Averill posted his fourth straight victory in winning the featured $1,000 handicap trot at Scioto Downs Wednesday night.

The bay gelding grabbed the early lead and won by a length over fast-closing Empress Rodney. Terry Averill paid $5, Empress Rodney was worth $4.20, and Chip Mon returned $4.40 for show.

Former National League southpaw pitcher Max Lanier is scouting for the San Francisco Giants.

Reid Fans 15, TV Wins 3-0 in Playoff Tilt

Kenny Reid tossed a 15-strikeout shutout at the Sportsman's Club outfit as Stonerock's TV moved in to the loser's bracket semifinals of the District 8 softball tournament by a 3-0 count last night at Ted Lewis Park.

Reid fanned at least two men every inning, whiffing the side in the second. The Hillsboro crew threatened only once, when Fields singled and Rockhold doubled in the first. Stonerock's ace hurler struck out Fleishner to end the rally.

The locals took a 2-0 margin in the third, as Neff and Davis scored on a pair of walks, errors and stolen bases.

In the fifth, Davis whalloped a double with one down and scurried across the plate for Stonerock's final marker as Harold Gulick connected for a line single to right.

FLEISHNER cracked a single with two out in the sixth for Hillsboro's last safety. Reid walked only two men. Fleishner fanned three and issued five free tickets in taking the defeat.

Tonight, the TV nine takes on Calvary Lutheran Church to determine which team faces Chamberlin in Friday night's loser's finale. The loser's champ will face River Oil, undefeated winner's division leaders, to end the playoffs.

Warrenite Holds Lead in Ohio Publinx

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP)—A 31-year-old Warren fireman and prizefighter held a five stroke lead today as Ohio's 28th public links golf championship went into its second round.

Lulu Sabotin, who was Floyd Patterson's fifth straight knockout victim as he surged to the heavyweight title, scored seven birdies Wednesday to finish five-under-par 65 over the Riceland Country Club course.

Only 13 of the 360 starters were able to break par as half the field performed at the Riceland club and the other at the Elms course.

Chasing Sabotin was some of the state's classiest talent. Deadlocked at 70 were Tom Miller of Orrville; Don Nist of Canton, the 25-year-old former state legislator who won the 1957 title; Harry Welch of Akron; Don Stickney of Columbus; Edward Sligh, 39, of Canton; Jim Caspio, of Cleveland, and Art Todd, of Columbus, the 1959 champion.

Five others were tied at 71—Frank Gacek of Parma, Tohe Silbert of Canton, Don Martin of Mentor, John Nardi of Ashtabula and Marion Heck of Columbiana.

The fields change courses today for another 18-hole round and the low 120 will play again Friday. The low 60 play 36 holes in the marathon finish and the other 60 wind up at the 54-hole mark.

SPORTS Highlights

CHICAGO (AP) — Six-year-old Bye Bye Bird, whose earnings of $554,257 since 1957 are an all time high for harness racing, has been retired to stud.

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The rival coaches in Friday night's 16th annual North-South All-Star football game at Fawcett Stadium believe the team making the fewest mistakes will win.

Groza Practicing and Ready If Browns '11' Ever Need Him

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Golden-toed Lou Groza, who contributed 1,001 points to the Cleveland cause in 14 campaigns, is ready to resume his place-kicking chores the minute the Browns need him.

Big Lou surrendered as an active player after the 1959 season to join the Browns' coaching-personnel staff — but he's as busy as a rookie on the practice field.

The Martins Ferry giant scored only one touchdown in his illustrious career—but with 742 points is the second-best point-getter the National Football League has ever known. Only Green Bay's Don Hutson, with 825, is ahead of him.

Don scored 105 touchdowns, 174 extra points and seven field goals in 11 years, while Lou had 343 extra points and 131 field goals to go along with his lone six-pointer. Groza's field goal mark is 43 ahead of his nearest foe, and his extra point total is 28 ahead of the pack. Add the four seasons in the old All-American Conference, and Lou's field goal record jumps to 161 and his extra points to 525.

Here at Hiram's training camp, Lou goes through nearly two hours of kicking practice daily, alongside Sam Baker who succeeded him.

Asked if he planned to do any booting in games this fall, Lou answered: "I'm ready the minute Coach Brown asks me."

Coach Paul Brown said: "Lou is doing this on his own. He wants to let us know he's available. He's on our reserve list, and we can get him into a game pretty fast. And you can bet we'll do it the minute we need him. He's still the greatest."

The Browns are on the practice field only a couple of hours a day, but spend plenty of time in classrooms. The average age of the 42 players is about 25 years, and like all growing boys they eat plenty. They also eat well. Each morning, along with fruit juices, cereals, rolls and toast, they consume 18 dozen eggs and nine pounds of bacon.

Lunch is fairly light, but in the evening they put away about 30 pounds of potatoes, huge amounts of salads, milk, fruit juices and meat.

One night they ate 80 pounds of tenderloin roast, the next 90 pounds of strip steaks. Other evening meals featured T-bone steaks.

top round of beef and trout. And 65 quarts of lemonade.

When steak is on the menu, veteran end Leon Clarke who stands 6-4 and weighs 230, gets a practically raw one. Jim Marshall, Columbus end who matches Clark in size, wants his burned to a crisp. The others don't seem to care—so long as the steak is big.

The question has often been asked: "Why don't the Browns play an exhibition in Columbus?"

Coach Brown's answer: "We'd like to play there—but only if the game could be played in Ohio State Stadium, which isn't likely just now. We wouldn't consider a game at the state fairgrounds or in Jet Stadium, for my team is accustomed to only the finest facilities and playing conditions."

"We wouldn't initiate it, but we'd consider an invitation if the stadium were available. We'd line up the best opponent in the league for the game, and assure any sponsoring charity its fair share of the proceeds."

"Maybe we'll get to do it some day. I hope so, anyway."

$100,300 Trot Faces 3-Year-Olds
YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Duke Rodney, a fleet but erratic colt, and the steady going Castleton Farm pair of Orbiter and Spectator head a well balanced field of eight of the nation's top 3-year-old trotters in the $100,300 Yonkers Futurity at Yonkers Raceway tonight.

Indians Show Signs of Still Being Alive

CLEVELAND (AP) — Even though the Cleveland Indians' current three-game winning streak seems paltry compared to the nine game skien they had in May, it's an indication the Indians are not going to play dead despite the fact they're all but mathematically out of contention for first or second place in the American League.

Before its 3-1 victory Wednesday night on Gary Bell's three-hitter, Cleveland had not won three straight since they took three in a row from the Boston Red Sox in mid-July.

The only extra base hit off Bell (8-11) was rookie first baseman Bud Zipfel's solo homer in the first inning. After Marty Keough singled in the second, Bell pitched no-hit ball until Danny O'Connell opened the ninth with a single.

The Indians scored all their runs in the fourth off John Gabler. Tito Francona singled, Willie Kirkland followed suit and Bubba Phillips doubled to score Francona. John Romano then cracked a single to left for two more runs.

The Indians play the Cincinnati Reds in an exhibition game here tonight. The Reds are one game behind the first place Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League race.

The game is an annual affair—the Cleveland baseball Federation Sandlot Day. Larry Patterson (5-5) and Tommy John (3-2), both of the Cleveland Dubuque farm team of the Mid-West Class D League, will hurl for the Indians.

Winner Overlooked
The name of Tim Wells, winning Elks pitcher in the Little Major League baseball championship contest here, was inadvertently omitted from the original story.

Pitcher Art Fowler of the Los Angeles Angels compiled a 13-10 record with St. Paul in the American Association last season.

Portugal's golf team of H. Paulino and F. Pina finished 33rd and last in the Canada Cup matches in Puerto Rico.

Peg Deadeyes Prepared for Open Tourney

The annual Pitching Roundup Tournament sponsored by the Pickaway County Horsehoe club and open "to any player, anywhere" will get under way at the Fairgrounds courts at 5 p. m. Monday with a qualifying round.

According to club president Ray Goodman, qualifiers will continue through Friday from 5 to 10:30 p. m. Many of the top pegmen in Ohio are expected to converge on the concrete-and-clay courts for the pitchoff.

The tournament will be divided into five competitive classes. A 25-point consolation will be in effect in the lower three divisions while a 50-point consolation has been set for the top two brackets.

Once the qualifications are completed, championship pitchoffs in classes C, D and E will be held starting at 10 a. m. Saturday. The class A and B contestants will vie for divisional titles starting 10 a. m. Sunday.

TROPHIES will be awarded to the top four finalists in each classification. The event is open to the public.

Courts are located just north of the garden exhibit building on the Fairgrounds.

Palmer Is Primed For Hartford Test

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A happy Arnold Palmer, he of the strong jaw and rugged muscles, is back at the Wethersfield Country Club today to compete in the $30,000 Insurance City open golf tournament.

He loves to come here, and the feeling is mutual. It's a must stop for the famed pro.

The 1961 British Open champion from Latrobe, Pa., has never forgotten that he won his first American major prize as a pro in the ICGO. It was his start on the road to riches and fame back in 1956.

Ever since, he's been the darling of the galleries during the annual four-day, 72-hole test, and has been worthy of it.

Jay Chalks Up 16th Victory For Redlegs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pal Joey Jay has become the best pal the Cincinnati Reds have had in a long time in their bid for the National League pennant.

And why not? In seven seasons with the Milwaukee Braves before being traded to the Reds, Jay won a grand total of 24 games. Already, in his first year with the Reds, he's won 16, highest number of victories in the National League so far and second only to Whaley Ford's 19 for the American League Yankees.

The big right-hander picked up victory no. 16 in his third shutout Wednesday night with a six-hit, 5-0 win over the Philadelphia Phillies. It was the Reds' 16th straight victory over the Phils this year, one short of the NL record set by Pittsburgh over the same Reds in 1936.

"I feel real fine," Jay said after the game. "This has been the best year of my major league career."

Jay, who was signed for a $20,000 bonus in 1953 by the Braves when he was 18 years old, attributed his new found success to "luck" and "getting a lot of work."

"I was happy about the trade. They (the Braves) didn't use me too much. I'm pitching the same this year. I'm just getting more chances."

The Reds Wednesday night collected seven hits, including Elio Chacon's first major league home run in the fifth off southpaw Don Ferrarese.

'Little' Miami Yields Big Fish

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—They call it the Little Miami River, but it's been yielding some big fish in recent days.

Harold Brant, Warren County game protector, said that Andrew Golley of Cincinnati caught a carp 37½ inches long, weighing 32 pounds above the Morrow Mill Dam.

Two 32-pound shovelhead catfish were caught near Milford by Charles Howard of Morrow and Joe Shirts of Kings Mills.

A scale of the carp checked by a biologist disclosed it was between 12 and 15 years old.

Records compiled by the Outdoor Writers of Ohio indicate the record carp weighed 41½ pounds and was caught May 29 in Lake Erie by Hugh Tomlinson Jr., of Parma.

Another deer season within the confines of the U.S. Ravenna Arsenal in Portage County has been approved by the Ohio Wildlife Council. Biologists have recommended removal of about 500 animals of either sex during the open season.

Bow and arrow hunters will be permitted to hunt the reservation Nov. 18 and Nov. 25, and Dec. 16. Gun hunters will be admitted Jan. 6, 13 or 20. If in this latter period it requires only one or two days to bring the deer kill to the required mark, the remaining periods will be cancelled. The manner in which hunters will be selected has not been determined.

A report to the Wildlife Council by Robert Strohm, supervisor of firearms and water safety, points up a 30 per cent reduction in Ohio hunting accidents for the period January through July, compared with the same months in 1960. This year there were three fatal and four non-fatal accidents, while in 1960 the figures were two and eight, respectively.

A giant, 291-year-old white oak owned by R. B. Fisher of Mansfield, has yielded enough high grade veneer to cover 8,000 standard size office desks and a saw log 10 feet long. The tree was sold to Kapel Bros., Shiloh, who bought it for veneer and lumber timber. It was 51 inches in diameter at breast height, and 96 feet in height.

Walter Hoyle, manager of Cowan Lake State Park, says "muskie fishing fever" is bringing anglers to the park. He reported 14 "nice-sized" fish were observed at the boat dock last week, and that probably others were caught. "To indicate the current frenzy here," he said, "word got out that a fish was taken off Indian Point and that the next day seven boats were anchored there filled to capacity with fishermen."

AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dona Reed is something of a Hollywood Mollie Pitcher—the lone feminine star whose series will continue. "The Dona Reed Show" is beginning its fourth season in television.

"The Loretta Young Show," "The June Allyson Show" and the Barbara Stanwyck Show" all went into reruns at the end of last season, Miss Young's after many successful seasons and Miss Stanwyck's after only one.

One reason Miss Reed offers for her TV survival is the nature of the series—family comedy.

"I think we've come through mostly by accident," blonde and youthful-looking Dona explained during a short break between shots at the studio. "But also I think we're still here because we have a series in which relationships have been established between the players. The other women had anthology series with each program different. And I think that series like ours are what people stay home to watch. And I think that our greatest asset is that all of us—Carl Bez, Shelley Fabares and Paul Peterson and I—have been playing together as a family over the years."

Dona feels that the long-playing family shows are shrugged off by television writers and critics.

"You can't get into a show like this by watching it once or occasionally," she said. "We work hard damnake a lot of episodes, and some are bound to be better than others. But I'd like the critics to watch our show five weeks in a row. That way they would really find out what we're doing. Then I'd like them to go to a movie—a clean family-type movie—and sit down and tell us which came off better. After all, it's impossible to find anything really new in family comedy—it's the way it handled that makes the difference."

Senate OKs Death Penalty For Hijacking an Airplane

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today wrote a provision for the death penalty into a bill making airplane hijacking a federal crime.

An amendment adopted by voice vote would fix a minimum penalty of 20 years in prison and authorize life imprisonment or death.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., author of the amendment, said he felt a mandatory death penalty as some senators had proposed, would be too drastic.

The bill, which also would provide heavy penalties for other crimes in the skies, was brought up after the hijacking of a Pan American World Airways jetliner over Mexico Wednesday. The plane was forced to travel to Cuba, but Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government promptly ordered release of the plane, its passengers and crew.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the release of the plane and passengers "puts a different outlook" on a whole crop of senatorial demands for President Kennedy to tell Castro to release seized U.S. planes or expect American forces to go in and get them.

Mansfield said it will be up to Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., to decide whether he wants to push for an amendment he offered to the penalties bill Wednesday. The amendment would ask President Kennedy to give Castro 48 hours to return the Pan American jet and an Eastern Air Lines plane held in Havana since July 24 before taking "such action as is necessary" to get them back. Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee was ready with an amendment to provide the death penalty for the armed hijacking of a plane. But Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., questioned the wisdom of this.

He said if a hijacker faced a mandatory death penalty he might destroy a plane and all the passengers aboard if he believed himself in danger of being caught.

In the House, a commerce subcommittee Wednesday reached tentative agreement on a bill providing penalties up to death for aircraft hijacking. The subcommittee ordered a fresh draft made of the bill and will return to work on it. Further changes are possible although the lawmakers agreed in principle on:

1. Penalties from 20 years imprisonment to death for hijacking in which a deadly weapon is used.

2. Lesser penalties, up to $10,000 fine and 20 years imprisonment, for assaults on crew members or passengers.

3. A definition of "air piracy" as a new crime to take care of doubts that the traditional concepts of piracy at sea could be carried over to crimes aboard aircraft.
